

NAVAL BASE SITE BACKED BY LEJEUNE

Leader of Marines Indicates Satisfaction With Recommendations for Alameda; Spends Day Investigating.

Wisconsin Senator and Local U. S. N. Officers Accom-
Bay; Chief Urges Action

Major-General John A. Lejeune, commander of the Marine Corps and member of the general board of the navy department, and United States Senator Irvine L. Lenroot of Wisconsin, this afternoon made an official inspection of the Alameda naval base site. General Lejeune visited the site in connection with his inspection of the Marine Corps about the bay waters in a navy tug, survey he is making of the facilities for national defense.

The inspection of the site resolved itself into a study of military science and defense. It was officially a military party that steamed about the bay waters in a navy tug, and consequently the results of the survey were not made public.

LEJEUNE SATISFIED WITH RECOMMENDATIONS.

Following the same visit, the attitude of Admiral William S. Sims toward expressing a public opinion regarding the Alameda site, General Lejeune, nevertheless, indicated his satisfaction with the reports of the naval commissions which recommended the Alameda site for the establishment of the Pacific Coast naval base.

Senator Lenroot, who is stopping in Berkeley on his way East, after a visit in the Hawaiian Islands, said that since his study of conditions on the islands, he intended to take a deep interest in every movement that affected this region.

Other members of the party were Rear-Admiral Alexander S. Halstead, commander of the Twelfth Naval district; General George Barnett, commander of the Marine Corps for this district; and Captain F. W. Alsworth, representing the Bay Cities Naval Base committee.

STAFF PRAISES SITE.
Captain Stanford H. Moses, chief of staff of the Twelfth Naval district, spoke his approval of the Alameda site before the members of the Daylight Post of the American Legion in San Francisco yesterday.

"Four years ago the fleet came out here for the first time," he said, "and there were no facilities for serving it. Two months from now the fleet will be here again, and there will still be no facilities for serving it. It is high time that the people of the San Francisco bay get behind the Alameda naval base site with all their force."

General Lejeune, who commanded the marine forces that pierced the Hindenburg line at Blanc Mont Ridge in the Argonne, will be entertained tonight at a dinner as guest of honor of the three branches of the military forces stationed in San Francisco. General Lejeune and Major-General Hunter Liggett, U. S. A., retired, will be the speakers.

After inspecting the marine barracks at Mare Island tomorrow, General Lejeune will go to the northwest and thence back to Washington.

Georgian Takes To Bed to Dodge Jinx of Old '13'

MACON, Ga., April 13.—(By Associated Press.)—J. A. Parham, Macon business man, spent today, Friday the 13th, in bed, in the hope that he would get through the day safely. He gave as his reason:

While working on a machine in his garage, a steel splinter struck him in the eye, destroying the sight on the 13th of the month.

The following month, also on the 13th, he broke an arm while cranking an automobile.

In the next month, also on the 13th, he slipped on grease in his garage and broke a leg.

For two months thereafter, by using extra precautions, he got by without a mishap.

Then the 13th rolled around again, and while he was watching mechanics at work on an automobile, a block broke loose from its fastening, fell on his foot and mashed it.

Last month, on the 13th, his garage was destroyed by fire.

DOUBLE HOODOO DAY 'OBSERVED'

Wary Keep Eye Out for the Black Cats and All Their Sinister ilk.

Adam's birthday damned ominously today.

Pedestrians kept a watchful eye peeled for the ever-present ladder and skirted it with trepidation.

From early morning, when the salt was spilled and must needs be cast over the left shoulder to rid one of the hoodoos were carefully observed.

Today loomed up important as the first "Friday, the 13th" of the year. The next one will come in July, and all those who were successful in side-stepping misfortune today can devote their attentions solely to the coming event.

Those who lean toward the superstitions, who avoid breaking mirrors, who do not step over the fallen broom, who never fail to pick up the pin, who wouldn't cross a knife and fork irrespective of etiquette, who scan the horizon for a white horse when they see red-headed girl, and who religiously take off their hats and expectorate in same when they meet a cross-eyed woman, today was a series of ritual adventures.

Investigation shows that their shoes are not over for the calendar shows that the decade starting in 1921 and continuing until 1930, inclusive, contains fifteen Friday, the 13ths. The list is given as follows: 1921, May; 1922, October; 1923, April and July; 1924, June; 1925, February, March and November; 1926, August; 1927, May; 1928, April and July; 1929, September and December; and 1930, June.

CHARITIES FACE LOSS IN WILL WAR

Contest to Share Uncle's
$160,000 Estate Rivals the "Master of Ballantrae" as Conflict of Brothers

Albert Brown Daly, "Dead" in Shipwreck, Returns But Is Denied His Legacy by Charles H. Daly, Is Charge

The Oakland and San Francisco Y. M. C. A.'s and Y. W. C. A.'s as well as the Salvation Army, churches and other charities, as well as Oakland relatives, will be deprived of bequests amounting to thousands of dollars if a will contest filed in the estate of Charles Henry Daly is successful. The estate is appraised at $150,000.

The contest, filed by the children of Albert Brown Daly, a brother, recites in cold legal terms a story which rivals "The Master of Ballantrae," by Robert Louis Stevenson.

The history goes back to 1855 and recites the tale of a shipwreck in which Albert Brown Daly was supposed to have lost his life.

Only to return home years later to find his inheritance in control of the brother.

CONTEST ALMOST MISSES FILING DATE

Charles H. Daly, who was nursing agent here for two Honolulu railroads, died at his home, 1640 Tenth avenue, on March 16, 1922. The will was dated November 7, 1921. The strange fact which has seemed to deprive Albert Daly and his children from any portion of the wealth followed the contest which came near not being filed in time. It was mailed general delivery by Attorney Ben S. Sawyer of Olympia, Washington, to Attorney J. E. Hood, 5533 East Fourteenth street.

The letter and papers were delivered when Hood was out of town, misplaced by the office boy and found just in time to file on the last date allowed by law.

The contestants named are A. G. Theodore, Arthur and Lester Daly, sons of Albert Daly, and the contest is directed against the Bank of California National Association, executors of the estate.

"DEAD" YOUTH COMES HOME FOR LEGACY.

The family history related in the contest starts in 1855, when Albert Daly is alleged to have received an inheritance of $6000 when he was an infant. He was not told by his parents of the inheritance and when 14 years of age ran away to sea. Sometime later the ship he sailed on was reported wrecked with all lives lost.

Years passed and Albert was not heard from and his parents thought him dead. So they gave the $6000 to Charles. Possessing considerable business sagacity, the contest states, Charles invested the money to good purpose and had amassed a fortune of about $150,000, it is claimed, when Albert unexpectedly returned.

It is claimed that when Charles induced his parents to give him the $6000 he promised that anything earned by the money would be faithfully preserved for the brother in case he ever showed up. Pretending to carry out this agreement, it is charged, Charles appeared willing to share the fortune equally with his brother, but persuaded him that it would be a great loss if it was apportioned at that time. Albert was easy going and possessed sufficient faith in "my estate."

When the two brothers grew old, Albert asked for his portion of the estate. It is related, pointing out that both of them would soon die. But Charles evaded the issue, it is claimed, by declaring he was ill but would do so as soon as able. Albert died soon after and it was long until Charles died also.

WILL COMES TO LIGHT.

Then the will was filed for probate, revealing a clause which reads: "I have no personal debts. I purposely omit the family of my deceased brother, Albert Brown Daly, from my bequests and it is my wish that nothing his children nor their descendants participate in my estate."

Little light has been thrown upon the cause of this attitude taken by Charles Daly. Mrs. Kate F. Miner, who took care of Charles after the death of his wife and two sons, says Charles expressed resentment against the family of his brother, but she does not know the cause. In the will she was left some personal effects that were in the home.

The contest refers to Charles as having a "determined, cold, calculating, austere, arrogant and domineering character," and as being a "selfish man."

Hindu Slayer Is Hanged At San Quentin

Murderer Makes His Delayed Expiation

(Special to THE TRIBUNE.)
SAN RAFAEL, April 13.—Before a crowd of fifty-three witnesses, three of whom collapsed a few moments after the trap was sprung, Ullah Mohammed, a Hindu and convicted murderer, was hanged today—Friday, the thirteenth—at San Quentin penitentiary.

As the condemned man reached the thirteenth step of the stairs leading to the gallows, he stumbled and fell, but was helped to his feet and led to the platform where the noose was adjusted. The trap was sprung at 10:17 and the man was pronounced dead by the prison physician at 10:22.

Last night was the second that Mohammed spent in the prison's death house. His execution today followed a ruling by the Supreme Court that the condemned man must die as sentenced. Several weeks ago, just before Mohammed was to be led from the death cell to the gallows, an injunction obtained by his attorneys stayed his death.

UNUSUAL WRIT DELAYS EXECUTION

The injunction, the first of its kind in the history of California criminal jurisprudence, was issued by the Superior Court on the ground of extrinsic fraud. Later, after a lengthy legal battle, it was overruled by the Supreme Court.

Mohammed was executed for the murder of a fellow countryman, Ali Akbar, a fellow countryman.

He died refusing to make any statement as to his innocence or guilt. As one of the attendants was placing the death hood over his head, he gestured toward the crowd of witnesses and officials, as though in entreaty that the execution be halted.

As the noose was being placed around his neck, he uttered a guttural sound and some believe that he was trying to speak, but the routine afforded him no opportunity.

Mohammed spent a restless night in the death cell, and the guard in the corridor declared that he could hear him moaning and tossing about on the narrow cot.

This morning, he was permitted to have anything he might ask for at breakfast, but when the meal was taken to him by a deputy warden he ate sparingly.

THREE WITNESSES
FAINT AT GALLOWS

The crowd of fifty-three witnesses filed into the death house several minutes before the scheduled time of the execution. Shortly after 10 o'clock, the condemned man was led into the room housing the gallows. He was visibly nervous. All trace of the coolness he had displayed in the death cell deserted him and he trembled violently.

After stumbling and falling on the thirteenth step of the death stairs, Mohammed turned and faced the crowd of officials and witnesses from the platform. He threw out his hands in an appealing gesture. The prison chaplain murmured a prayer, the mask was pulled over his face and the noose adjusted around his neck.

Just after the trap was sprung, three of the witnesses in the crowd, one of whom was a peace officer, fainted and prison authorities were forced to pick up an emergency hospital in one corner of the death house to revive them.

Gasoline Tax Bill Passed By Senate

SACRAMENTO, April 13.—(By International News Service.)—The Bred bill placing a two-cent tax on gasoline, was today passed by the senate without a dissenting vote.

This measure, though part of the motor vehicle regulatory legislation, was separate from the Bred motor vehicle act, also before the senate, and which was passed by the house today.

The tax on gasoline will provide about 10,000,000 in two years, it is estimated, and the funds are to go toward the upkeep of the highways.

2 CONVICTS FLEE PRISON; MANHUNT ON

Life Termers in Break for Liberty From San Quentin Run Gauntlet of Volley by Guards; Reach Hills

Armed Poses in Autos and on Foot Pursue Fugitives; Escape Planned at Time
Set for Slayer's Execution

SAN RAFAEL, April 13.—Two life term convicts made a successful break for liberty from San Quentin prison at 9:40 o'clock this morning, according to word coming from the office of Warden James A. Johnston.

Roy Stevens, 22 years old, from San Francisco, and James Richardson, 33 years old, from Kern county, made their getaway while working with the construction gang near the western boundary of the reservation under Guard Patrick Conly, the report says.

The break had evidently been timed by the men to take place just before the hour set for the hanging of Ullah Mohammed, Sonoma county Afghan, sentenced to be executed for the murder of his ranch partner. It is pointed out by authorities that the outer guard at the prison is lighter at the time of an execution.

Early in the morning, about a hundred men at the time of the escape, gave the alarm in time for the tower guards to see the convicts and fire a volley at the fleeing men.

Armed posers have been dispatched by Warden Johnston in autos and on foot in the direction of Greenbrae and west of the prison, the direction the men were heading when last seen.

HAVANA, Cuba, April 13.—Ramon Arroyo (Arroyito), notorious bandit, whose exploits around Matanzas have kept the country for months in a state of terrorism for months, was captured today while riding in an automobile bus between Guanajuato and Regla, within ten miles of Havana. The outlaw's last exploit was the abduction of Juan Bautista Canizo, millionaire sugar magnate, whom he held for a ransom variously said to be between $20,000 and $100,000.

Rockefeller Leaves For Northern Home

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE
LEAFED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.
ORMOND BEACH, Fla., April 13.—John D. Rockefeller left today for his summer home at Boca Raton, N. Y., after a winter spent at home here. Although he suffered from a cold, he is in good health.

According to Becker, the two dead men had a dispute at breakfast, Mett announcing his intention to quit and Jolyon refusing to permit him. Apparently Mett, securing a double-barreled shotgun, the only weapon on the ranch, shot Jolyon as he walked across the yard and shot Mrs. Mourier, as she tried to crawl under the bed to hide. Going into the yard he sat down against an oil tank, placed the gun against his breast and fired it by pushing the trigger with a stick. His body fell forward but was held in a sitting position by the stick.

Becker says the two men were arguing when he went into the fields and when Mett did not come to work for almost an hour Becker went back to the house to learn why. He found Mett dead in a neighbor with whom he entered the Jolyon ranch house.

Little is known of Jolyon, who came here about two years ago and bought 250 acres of land five and one-half miles from Lodi, on the Lincoln highway, which he planted to grapes. He was reputed to be wealthy and to have a wife and children elsewhere in California. Mrs. Mourier was new to the vicinity, her name being secured from the registration certificate in an automobile said by Becker to belong to her. In Mett's effects were found discharge papers from the U. S. army dated January 20, 1920, which indicated he was 30 years old, a native of Italy, and had served in Company E, 27th Infantry.

Mathilde McCormick Weds Riding Master in Secret

Revealed

MATHILDE MCCORMICK, grand-daughter of John D. Rockefeller, whose secret marriage to Max Oser, Swiss ridingmaster, is revealed.

LONDON, April 12.—(By International News Service.)—Miss Mathilde McCormick, 18-year-old granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller, and Major Max Oser, middle-aged Swiss riding master, to whom she has been engaged for more than a year, were secretly married in London yesterday.

The International News Service was reliably informed this afternoon.

The couple are reported to have left for an unannounced destination to spend their honeymoon.

Mathilde became of age last week and friends understood she was merely awaiting her 18th birthday before marrying.

Major Oser and Mathilde were said to have called unexpectedly upon friends in London last night and excitedly announced that they had just been married under a special license. They refused to say what service performed the ceremony.

The couple left London afterwards, saying they were starting upon their honeymoon.

Both Oser and Mathilde threw a veil of secrecy about the reported nuptials. They were as discreetly silent as they have been throughout their romance.

TWO MURDERED BY RANCH HAND

Killer Then Turns Gun On Himself; Petty Argument
Given As Cause

LODI, April 13.—S. M. Jolyon, wealthy rancher, and Mrs. E. V. Mourier, a cook, were shot and instantly killed this morning by Joe Mett, a laborer employed on the ranch, who immediately ended his own life. No motive for the killing is known other than a petty dispute at the breakfast table between Jolyon and Mett. The Lodi was found by Herman Becker, another ranch hand, when he returned from work in the fields.

According to Becker the two dead men had a dispute at breakfast, Mett announcing his intention to quit and Jolyon refusing to permit him. Apparently Mett, securing a double-barreled shotgun, the only weapon on the ranch, shot Jolyon as he walked across the yard and shot Mrs. Mourier, as she tried to crawl under the bed to hide. ILLEGAL UNION
CONTEST BASIS

In an attempt to gain the $30,000 estate of their father, Verna J. Taylor and George W. Taylor, in a will contest filed at the Hall of Records today, charge that their father, Verna Wells Taylor, at one time a leading wholesale jeweler of the Pacific coast, was not legally married to their stepmother, Mrs. Irene M. Taylor, 1421 Grove street, Berkeley, because she was his niece.

Taylor died in Lake county in 1914, leaving a large estate and the entire estate is left to his widow, and in which he specifically states that he makes no provision for any other heirs, especially his son, Verna J. Taylor.

The sons allege that the will was made under the undue influence of the widow, and on the allegation that their father was not legally married to their stepmother claim that he died intestate and that the estate should be divided equally between the two sons.

Francisco, while the other son, George, is a jeweler of Kitchen, Alaska. The contest is filed against their stepmother and her daughter, Anna Marie McVeigh.

Joseph McInerney, attorney for the sons, declared that the widow is the claimant of the estate. Taylor's brother, the deceased, and that the contents will be waged on that legal point.

According to McInerney, the first wife of Taylor is living in San Francisco, and that they were divorced eight years ago following a sensational romance between Taylor and his second wife. The attorney said the wealthy jeweler had built a palatial motorhome and had taken his brother, his niece, and his son, George, on a cruise up the Inner channel to Alaska.

During this trip the son, George, discovered the budding romance between his father and his daughter. McInerney said, and he wrote to his mother appraising her of the fact. The mother of the contestants immediately left for Alaska. McInerney declared, and followed the notorious trail of her husband and his niece to Vancouver, where they were found residing in what the attorney termed "a love bungalow." Following this affair, the couple were divorced, according to McInerney.

In an answer filed to the contest, the widow and the daughter, as executors of the estate, deny any undue influence having been brought to bear upon Taylor and the charge that he died intestate.

COBLENZ, April 13 (By the Associated Press.)—The Rhine-land high commission today ordered the expulsion of 433 additional Germans. They were mostly employees of the customs service and the railroads.

PARIS, April 13.—(By the Associated Press.)—A re-winding of the inter-allied front is expected to result from today's meeting of the Franco-Belgian ministers here, at which a reparations plan drafted by the French experts will be compared to one drawn up by the Belgians.

It is understood that the two plans, slightly, inasmuch as Premier Poincare, through Louis Loucheur, and the Belgian government, through its representatives in London, have sounded the British government as to its attitude toward the question.

FRANCE IS READY TO MAKE CONCESSIONS.

The French plan was prepared by the foreign office experts in close collaboration with the reparations commission. Le Matin, which prints a resume of the draft, says it leaves the total German indebtedness at 132,000,000,000 gold marks, but provides for a method of payment which would lessen the burden of the debt and at the same time accelerate the installments during the next few years.

If France in that period is able, through international credit operations, to get 25,000,000,000 gold marks, representing the "A" and "B" German bonds as well as her just and future exportations from the devastated regions, she is ready to make concessions for the remainder, says the newspaper.

Part of the German debt, mobilization of which is declared to be urgent, corresponds to the sums required for the reparation of devastated France, Italy, Yugoslavia, Rumania, with priority for Belgium plus the money spent by that country on the same account.

Also included are the costs of the American and allied armies of occupation, reimbursement for the premiums paid to German munitions and various other contingencies.

Glass-Cutting Plant Nears Completion

Construction work on the glass cutting factory of the Jones & Richardson company, Eighteenth and Pershing streets, is rapidly nearing completion and the building will be ready for occupancy next week, it was announced by officials of the company today.

The factory will be a one story building.

A spur track will be installed from the Southern Pacific Eighteenth street line. The company has been established in San Francisco for some time, but is moving its plant to Oakland, one of its subsidiaries, to superior manufacturing facilities located on this side of the bay.

Council of Young People in Meeting

Representatives from the Epworth League, the Christian Endeavor, B. Y. P. U. and Swedish mission attended the meeting of the Christian Young People's Council of Alameda county last night at the Oakland Y. M. C. A. Edward D. Johnson was elected president, W. R. Erway, first vice-president, and Ruth Gibson, secretary and treasurer. Various committees were named to cover the special activities for which the council was planned.

Pioneer Dies

M. J. KELLER, founder of several commercial establishments of known merchants of the city, who died at the age of 77 years.

Walnut Creek Girl Is Saved By Operation

WALNUT CREEK, April 13.—Taken suddenly ill with an attack of appendicitis Sunday night Martha Louise Lawrence, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lawrence, was rushed to the Fabius Hospital, Oakland, where it was found necessary to operate immediately. The child at the last report was improving but up to that time was in a critical state.

M. J. KELLER'S

HELD SATURDAY

Services Will Take Place At
De Sales.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow for M. J. Keller, formerly an active figure in city politics and one of the best-known pioneer merchants of Oakland. Keller died at his home at 674 Mandana boulevard Wednesday night following a stroke of apoplexy.

Services will be held at the church of St. Francis de Sales and will be attended by many of the older families of the city and members of the Knights of Columbus, of which organization Keller was a member.

Keller was actively engaged in business in Oakland for more than forty years, and was the leader in several notable commercial enterprises. He was one of the organizers of the old Board of Trade and served as president of that body for several terms.

Several of the big merchandise stores of Oakland stand on the foundations that Keller laid when he came to this city fifty-five years ago. Born in Ireland, Keller came to this country when 18 years of age. He opened a store in Marysville and managed a thriving business there during the bonanza days of the mines and then came to Oakland to invest his capital in stores in this city. He was 77 when he died.

Besides his leadership in the commercial interests of the city, Keller was in his day one of the political figures of the city. He organized political clubs and conducted campaigns and on one occasion stood as candidate for mayor.

Surviving him are his widow and four children, Albert, George and Adeline Keller, and Mrs. Frank Barry.

SPECIAL SCHOOLS FOR CRIPPLES OF OAKLAND URGED

Rotary Leader Cites Toledo Activity As Example to Local Club.

Special schools for crippled children with automobile bus service to carry them to and from their homes are held for the future of Oakland in the prediction of Edward S. Kelsey of Toledo, O., former vice-president of the International Rotary Club and founder of the International Society for Crippled Children. Speaking at the Oakland Rotary Club's luncheon, Kelsey told of the urgent need for special advantages for crippled children and said that the club would inaugurate "specialization schools for the maimed of Oakland just as the Rotary clubs of the East are doing for their cities."

Reciting the experiences of the Toledo club, Kelsey said a survey of the city had shown there were several hundred children being kept from school because they either were lacking suitable transportation or could not compete with the normal children of the public schools. Subsequent information showed that two out of every thousand are crippled, 90 per cent of these are born maimed, and all but fourteen can be cured if treated while young. The Toledo Rotarians opened a school which had six pupils at the start. Business men donated their automobiles to transport the children to and from school. After six years there are today eight schools for crippled children in Toledo, said Kelsey, and twelve automobile buses for their conveyance.

After the schools were well organized by the club, the aid of the city and state was solicited with the result that the special schools for the crippled were incorporated into the public school system.

Kelsey aided in the organization of the California Society for the Care of Crippled Children at the district convention of the Rotary clubs at Pasadena recently. He urged the local Rotarians who became members of the philanthropic society to build schools, not hospitals, for the maimed children of this city.

LAWYERS TO FOIL U. S. RADICALS, PLEA OF BURNS

armed resistance and open rebellion among laboring classes of north and east and the time is near when legislation to prevent their obtaining a foothold in this country will be necessary, William J. Burns, head of the bureau of investigation, department of justice, said today. He praised the work of Texas rangers. The discharge of agents of the department who were members of the KKK was considered, he declared.

"Soviet Russia is sending emissaries to this country every day, and their teachings are being taken up by the radicals in this country," Burns said. "With two laws now being formulated for presentation to Congress for action, I will be able to drive the radicals from this country."

County Meat Men Support Tube Plan

At the latest regular meeting of the retail meat dealers association of Alameda county the question of an Estuary tube or bridge was brought before the members the advantages of a tube, which would allow an uninterrupted flow of traffic twenty-four hours a day, the following resolution was passed by unanimous vote:

"Resolved: That we the members of the retail meat dealers association of Alameda county, hereby endorse the project of building a tube to connect Oakland and Alameda, the tearing down of the bridge that is now obstructing navigation and hindering the development of our beautiful harbor."

W. M. Pitts is president and J. B. Muir secretary of the meat dealers.

EBERT RENOUNCES FRENCH. REPEATS WISH FOR PEACE

Symbolic of All Ruhr Actions, He Says

By CARL D. GROT.
United Press Staff Correspondent.
(Copyright, 1923, by United Press.)
(Copyright in Canada.)
BERLIN, April 12.—At an important moment we are ready for a solution which guarantees unity in the land of our fathers and the freedom of German labor under a just peace reached by an honest, free understanding, from nation to nation.
The unfettered German worker is willing to bear all burdens compatible with his capacity and honesty to assume a due share in the so bitterly needed reconstruction of the world's sick economy. But under threatening mouths of loaded murder weapons such unfettered German work cannot now and never can develop.
President Friedrich Ebert, in an exclusive interview granted the United Press—one of the extreme-few touching on actual political questions he has ever given—thus repeated Germany's expressed willingness for peace.

He coupled it, however, with a bitter denunciation of French procedure in the Ruhr, where he declared:

"All that occurred in the name of a peaceful, humane economic engineering mission, which had the purpose of speeding up Germany's deliveries.
"I believe the American people, accustomed to deal with sober economic realities, scarcely need to have more told them to bring clearly before their eyes the whole fearful nonsense of such a 'reparation' policy."
"A report of the Krupp factory council, in which Christian unions and free unions, as well as communists, are represented, has proved incontrovertibly that there cannot be any talk or provocation by the workers against French troops.
"No weapon was raised on the German side. Unarmed workers did nothing more than protest the illegal penetration of armed French soldiers into the factory by quitting work.
"Not a single hair of the French

RICHMOND, April 12.—At the weekly luncheon of the Richmond Rotary club today the principal speaker was Colonel H. S. Boyden, expert and technician in the use of cement and concrete. The chairman of the day was Hershey A. Stiver, President Fred B. LaFolne and the other delegates to the recent convention in Pasadena gave interesting reports of that meeting and told of the felicitous speech of Dr. T. W. Leger, which was a feature of the meet.

"Where, then, was there any threat? If they only wanted to requisition automobiles, why then machine guns and soldiers, ready to shoot?"

"There could be no crasser proof than this that the Ruhr invasion is a military force action with powder and lead.
"The mass murder of laborers at Krupp on Easter Saturday is symbolic of the whole Ruhr action."

G. O. P. LEADERS DISCUSS PLANS FOR 1924 RACE

Republican Party Treasurer Holds Conference With Various Chiefs.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—Preliminary discussion relative to the 1924 convention city of the Republican party, together with the making of plans to wipe out the remainder of the deficit incurred by the Republicans in the 1920 campaign and a survey of the general political situation constitute the outstanding developments of a series of conferences with Republican leaders concluded here last night by Fred W. Upham, treasurer of the Republican National Committee.

Participants in the conferences with Mr. Upham included John T. Adams, chairman of the Republican National Committee, who returned to Washington today after a trip abroad, Secretaries Weeks and Davis, Rush L. Holland, assistant attorney general, and others prominent in the councils of the party.

The discussions which have been in progress are understood from some of those who saw the Republican treasurer to have developed that consideration now is being given to six cities, Chicago, Kansas City, San Francisco, Cleveland, Washington and Buffalo, as the site for the 1924 convention.

That the deficit of approximately $1,700,000 resulting from the 1920 campaign has been reduced to about $300,000.

That party leaders expect that the fortunes of the Republican party in 1924 may turn largely on the general business conditions obtaining during the next nineteen months.

The discussions with President Harding relative to the proposed trip were said to have developed that the president has tentatively decided upon about fifteen addresses in the west, about six to be made en route to the coast by the southern route, probably three in coast cities and some half dozen on his return eastward by the northern route.

In connection with the preliminary consideration given to selection of the 1924 convention city, it was emphasized that no definite action will be taken until the December meeting of the Republican National Committee.

Heavy Rain Spoils Apricots for Canning

WOODLAND, April 12.—The heavy rain of last Monday damaged growing apricots to such an extent that they will be unfit for canning or shipping this year, according to Farm Adviser Warren D. Norton. The bumper crop will have to be dried in order to save it, he says. Shrub-like junipers have spotted the skins of the young coats with numerous brown dots, not materially injuring the fruit, but making it impracticable for canning or shipping.

CONTENTED CALIFORNIANS DISCUSS EASTERN STORMS

"By golly, Tom, those storms in the East and South are the limit, aren't they? That storm down in Louisiana last week killed a lot of people, according to the papers."

"Gooh, yes. And they've been having them everywhere except California. Bad ones, too. I'll say we're pretty lucky out here."

"I'll say. Especially after the recent rains. The whole State needed them badly. We got them with no unpleasant thunder storms and cyclones."

"That's all right with me. I saw in the papers the other day that several people, some quite prominent, too, do not care for California at all. Too mild. They like storms better."

"Well, California is no place for them, then, is it? There are a few thousands that differ with them, though, and from the looks of things most of the East is making of pulling up stakes and moving out here and buying land."

"Yes, and before it's all taken I'm going to buy me a nice little fruit ranch."

"Good business, if you've got the money. As for me, I've been trying to figure out for some months how to buy a suit."

"That's easy, if you buy at Cherry's, at 528 13th street, where you can have credit."

Cherry's store for women is at 515 12th street.

BUILDING BOOM OPENS RUSH FOR HOUSE NUMBERS

As a result of Oakland's enormous records for awarding house numbers were broken yesterday by the street department. From 9:00 to 11:45 yesterday morning, 112 new residential numbers, on more than thirty streets, were assigned by the street department forces.

U. C. STUDENTS "MOB" FIREMEN IN AX RALLY

BERKELEY, April 12.—

Bancroft way and Telegraph avenue after last night's ax rally held at the Greek theater, University of California students

"mobbed" police officers and firemen who responded and held an impromptu demonstration.

thought was Chief G. Solway and another, students hurled them on their shoulders and marched through the streets singing and

demonstration was carried on in a spirit of fun and as the students were harmless in their merrymaking officers permitted

a short demonstration.

Today the famous Stanford ax is safely back in its resting place in a local bank vault after having been the center of one of the most successful rallies

of its kind held last night at the Greek theater.

Burbank P.T.A. Plans May Day Celebration

Activity at Wharves

MONTEREY, April 13.—There is considerable activity along the local waterfront at present with special operations upon the municipal wharf. A recently arrived cargo of 200 feet of which recently broke down under the weight of 20,000 cases of canned ordines and the early salmon catches and heavily laden abalone boats arrive almost every day.

Three pile drivers are at work on the wharf, driving down new pilings to strengthen the old wharf and plans are under way for the rebuilding of certain portion. The money will be taken from the advertising and amusement funds of the city.

ATHLETIC CLUB SUBMITTEND FOR CHURCH SITE

First Congregational Trustees Offered $275,000 for their Property.

The offer by the Athens Athletic club to buy the First Congregational church property at Twelfth and Clay streets for $275,000 as a site for a clubhouse has been formally made to the trustees of the church, following receipt of pledges from the Downtown Association subscribing $125,000 of the amount.

The next step will be the presentation of the proposition by the trustees to the congregation of the church. If it is ratified by that body, the superior court will be asked for permission to close the deal, it was announced today.

The pledges of the members of the Downtown Association were turned over to the trustees of the athletic club in accordance with a promise made by that organization that it would pay $125,000 of the purchase price if the club would select the church property as the site for its new clubhouse.

The site occupies the entire block on the west side of Clay street between Twelfth and Thirtieth.

The club's offer was made to

"CZAR'S JEWELS" SOLD FOR $500 BY NEW YORKER

NEW YORK, April 13.—(By International News Service.)—If the diamond set tiara seized by treasury department agents from a Los Angeles business man is a part of the czar's crown jewels, Aaron Sverdig, New York antique importer, says he missed a golden opportunity.

Sverdig said today he bought the tiara in London two years ago, paying $50 pounds for it—something under $400 at the rate of exchange at the time.

He sold it to M. S. Chorr Company, a local retail firm, for $500. About a year ago, Sverdig said, the firm sold the tiara to the Los Angeles man for $1000.

Sverdig laughed when asked if the tiara had ever graced the czar's collection.

"It isn't good enough to have belonged to the czar," he said. "I am supposed to be an expert in antiques and the customs officials here frequently call me to appraise jewels."

In fact, he didn't think the piece was a tiara at all.

"I thought it was an Indian necklace when I bought it," he said.

MONTECITO FIRE COSTLY.
SANTA BARBARA, April 13.—Fire of unknown origin late last night destroyed the home of Arthur M. Green in Montecito, a suburb. The building and grounds constituted one of the finest homes in the Santa Barbara district. The loss is estimated at from $50,000 to $75,000.

545 'Dads and Lads' Unite at Banquet

The Fathers and Sons Banquet last night overtaxed the capacity of the gymnasium, almost a hundred dining in the hall on the third floor. There were 545 "Dads and Lads" present.

Dr. Warren J. Sherman, pastor of the Central M. E. church, San Francisco, delivered an address on "Grandfather's Boy." The program included invocation by Dr. E. M. Silsby, whistling solo, Harry Kolb, address, "Our Dads, Let's Great to Be Their Sons," Bob Koll, "Some Through a Father's Name," Arthur Moore, "Father Through a Boy's Steps," Elbert McPherson, vocal solo, Ray Crockett, W. W. Green, chairman, introduced C. H. Truman, as toastmaster. Talks on the community chest were made by Joseph J. Roshborough

Talks on Saving Life at Red Cross

T. W. Sheffield, special life saving representative of the Pacific division of the American Red Cross, will be in Oakland April 15 to 21 inclusive. Arrangements have been made by the Oakland chapter for Sheffield to give demonstrations and talks on life saving during his stay in this city. Sheffield is making a tour of California cities, stimulating interest in the life saving program of the American Red Cross.

He has been connected with the Red Cross for the past seven years as a volunteer. He has worked with the Los Angeles, Long Beach and Santa Monica chapters, organizing both the Santa Monica and Ocean Park life saving corps.

$480,000 BUDGET INCREASES FILED WITH COMMITTEE

Amendment Consideration by
to Continue Monday.

SACRAMENTO, April 12.—(By United Press.)—Members of the Senate finance committee will take up further consideration of Governor Richardson's economy budget on Monday night, it was announced today. Two long and strenuous evenings have been spent by the upper house group discussing the document and receiving additional amendments proposed by different legislators.

Amendments approximating $480,000 in increases were filed with the committee last night, bringing the total additions asked since the committee hearings commenced to over $1,700,000.

REQUESTS FOR ADDITIONS.

Last night's requested additions included: Inman, $125,000 for state board of health; Harris, $168,000 to restore the immigration and housing commission abolished by the governor; Hughes, $129,500 for the California Polytechnic school, and Boggs, $57,000 for home demonstration work of the state university agricultural department.

A large portion of the session was given over to discussion of the Polytechnic school at San Luis Obispo. Nicholas Riccardi, head of the institution, declared that it should be given at least $100,000 more to enable it to function suitably, or should be abolished entirely.

With senators asking additional appropriations for their per institutions, the revenue and taxation committee of the upper house devoted at length last evening to the report of Senator Nelson, Eureka, that the state has revenues for the next biennium aggregating $6,000,000 in excess of the amount estimated by the board of equalization.

REPORT DELAYED.

Acceptance of the report was delayed until Monday upon promise of Senator Gates, chairman of the finance committee, that the budget would not be voted out of committee before that time. Senators seeking additions to the budget were urgent that the Nelson report be accepted as indicating a source from which additional revenues may be obtainable.

The report followed an exhaustive survey made some weeks ago by the Nelson committee. Various officials were quizzed concerning the state's finances. The $6,000,000 represents principally unsold veteran welfare bonds, interest on school lands and various other smaller items.

The committee will consider further the Nelson report Monday afternoon, with the possibility that the finance committee will bring the amended budget to a vote that night.

Druidesses Planning Annual Benefit Dance

SALINAS, April 12.—(Vistaria Circle, No. 102, Druidesses, announces that its annual benefit dance this year will be Saturday evening, April 21, at Graves district warehouse, between Salinas and Castroville. The ladies have arranged for music by a jazz band.

ANTI-AMERICAN TEXT BOOK BAN BY LAW PLANNED

Bill Aimed at Use of Matter
Decrying Ideals, Founders,
Defenders of U. S.

TRIBUNE BUREAU, Sacramento, April 12.—A bill directed against the use of historical text books in the schools of the State, giving a false version of the facts "regarding the War of Independence, the War of 1812 or any other war of this country, or books which defame our nation's founders, defenders, heroes or patriots, or misrepresent the ideals and cause for which they struggled and sacrificed," has been introduced in the Assembly by Dr. C. R. Ball, assemblyman of Orange county.

The bill, which is in line with similar laws passed recently in other states of the Union directs that complaints shall be filed with the public hearings shall be held to investigate such complaints, that the offending books shall be eliminated, and also provides for the removal from office of any teacher or official of an educational institution who violates the principles, as laid down in the bill. Section 1 of the bill provides that: "Every school board, board of education, board of vocational education, county board of education, or official, who has control over the text books used in any district school, city school, vocational school, high school, college, university or other institution of learning in the state of California, shall cause any text book which the State superintendent or county superintendent has prohibited by this act, or any other act, to be withdrawn from use in such schools prior to the opening of the school year following the publication of any such finding by the State superintendent. No state aid shall be paid for the support of any district school, city school, vocational school, high school, college, university or other institution of learning, during any year in which any such text book or other un-American historical propaganda is used in such school, after the publication of such finding by the State superintendent."

It is further provided that: "In the case of any trustee or authority or teacher who shall fail to comply immediately with the terms of this act, his office or position shall be declared vacant and he or she shall not be eligible to again hold any educational office or position in the State of California."

"Any teacher or official of any educational institution in California who shall teach or speak before his or her pupils or public gatherings of an educational nature, or publicly, slighting or contemptuously of the Constitution of the United States, or of the framers thereof, or of the men who founded this republic, or helped preserve and defend it, or its heroes and patriots, or shall teach un-American principles, or fail to carry out and support the spirit of this act according to its true intent and meaning, shall be deemed to have voluntarily violated his or her contract or oath of office and shall be automatically removed if the charges are proven."

ABSENT VOTERS' BILL IS SENT TO RICHARDSON

Measure Prescribes Methods to Make Present Law Effective.

SACRAMENTO, April 12.—The state senate yesterday passed and sent to the governor for his approval a bill by Assemblymen Emme and Crittenden to provide machinery which would put in operation the absent voters law imposed by the people at the November election. The bill prescribes methods to obtain and record ballots of regularly qualified voters who must be away from their homes on election day.

The senate also approved two senate bills by Dr. Gates of Oroville, to forbid the employment as a teacher of certain near-relatives of any school official, and by Breed, Piedmont, to regulate the performance of public work by public and quasi-public bodies, boards and officers.

Assembly bills passed by the senate follow: A bill by Dr. Gates to provide that bridge franchises for terms not to exceed 50 years, hereafter granted by boards of supervisors. Elward, to permit polls in school elections to remain open until 8 p. m.

A bill by Dr. Gates to provide that voting places in rural districts be on the ground floor of buildings.

Bernard, to permit county high schools in Glenn and Plumas counties to become union high schools.

IRRIGATION AMENDMENT.

The upper house adopted a constitutional amendment by Spalding to permit irrigation districts to deposit moneys in banks in the same manner as cities, counties and other political subdivisions.

The assembly committee on governmental efficiency and economy last night tabled a number of bills that were introduced earlier in the session for the state administration, and were originally planned to do away with some of the state boards and departments, for which no appropriations were intended.

Later, however, these various bills were taken up and passed by the amended budget, and as a consequence the bills were unnecessary. The measures tabled included:

Two bills that taken together would have abolished the state building and loan commissioner and transferred the duties of that office to the state banking department.

A bill to transfer the functions of the state immigration and housing commission to the bureau of labor statistics.

A bill to create the post of chief of a division of charities and corrections and transfer the functions of the board of charities and correction to that official.

A bill to abolish the state mining bureau.

The committee also failed by close vote to pass out a bill by Cleveland intended to prevent boards of supervisors and certain other officials from appointing or electing one of their own number to some other salaried post during his term of office. Members said that there was too much of that sort of thing already, and cited the fact that a legislator cannot be an instructor at the university, or a notary public, and keep his place as a legislator.

Two or three other minor bills were recommended out for passage.

NEW HOUSING ACT.

A bill by Senator Burnett of San Francisco to provide a new California housing act was amended in the senate health and quarantine committee last night and reported out with a recommendation that it do pass. The principal amendment provides that dormitories already constructed and approved by local boards of health would not be affected by the provisions of the bill.

The committee also approved a bill by Assemblyman Hornblower, San Francisco, to require chiropractors to obtain 400 hours of training. The present law calls for 200 hours.

Arguments were presented before the senate insurance committee last night for and against a bill by Senator Luman, Sacramento, to regulate the rates of insurance companies. Peter V. V. Louie, former city attorney of San Francisco, opposed the bill. A. M. Louie, representing the California Policy Holders' League, one of the proponents, complained that California is paying exorbitant premiums in comparison to other states. He said this state in ten years paid premiums totaling $207,508,233 for losses aggregating $81,012,634, while Texas in the same period paid only $132,941,940 in premiums for losses of $81,097,627. The bill is expected to be acted upon at another session next Wednesday night.

Santa Rosa Case Results in Mistrial

SANTA ROSA, April 12.—A second trial is expected to be held in the suit of William McNulty, a street sweeper, against William W. Scamell, son of Dr. W. J. Scamell of Oakland, as result of the failure of the jury in the first trial to reach a verdict.

McNulty claims that young Scamell ran him down in July, 1921 and seriously injured him. He seeks $10,000 damages.

The first trial was concluded Wednesday and the jury was locked up from 4:30 in the afternoon until 8 at night, when Judge Ross Campbell discharged it. Seven voted for the plaintiff throughout, according to report, and five for the defendant. The jury was composed of three women and nine men.

OPERATION IN MID-AIR.

CARDIFF.—Fifty feet above the ground on a narrow scaffold a surgeon cut off the arm of William Hockin, who had been caught in a derrick wheel. Hockin will recover.

Saylor Bill For Insanity Cases Tabled

SACRAMENTO, April 12.—The Assembly committee of hospitals and asylums last night tabled a bill by Mrs. Saylor, of Alameda county, which was intended to re-arrange the method of admitting patients to State hospitals for the insane, and similar institutions. At present, there is an arrest on warrant followed by examination before the court and physicians, and commitment.

The Saylor bill would have done away with arrest, and would have provided for temporary care without formal commitment of persons temporarily deranged. It would also have changed the procedure for regular commitment quite markedly.

Numerous officials of State hospitals, alienists, and officers handling insane persons filed objections to the measure.

The United States coal output has been about 11,000,000 tons weekly.

BILL PROPOSES $3000 COUNTY SALARY BOOST

Majority of Alameda Delegation Reject Proposal for $6000 Slash.

TRIBUNE BUREAU, SACRAMENTO, April 12.—The Alameda county delegation, assembled in caucus, has provisionally adopted with minor amendments, the majority report of its sub-committee concerning the County Government Bill to be introduced into the Legislature. The caucus definitely rejected the minority report of Assemblyman E. H. Christian, of Hayward, which provided for a saving in county expenditures of approximately $6000 per annum.

Thus the majority report now becomes the official bill, providing for an increase in county government expenditures of approximately $2000. The minor amendments adopted provide for the following raises in salaries of county officers: The autopsy surgeon in the coroner's office to receive $175 per month instead of $150; the undersheriff to receive an annual salary of $3600, instead of $3000, and appointment of a new clerk in the Justice's Court of Brooklyn, at an annual salary of $2000.

Independent of these items, Senator Frank Carr of Oakland will introduce a separate bill, providing for the increase of the salaries of deputies in the Juvenile Probation Office, it is announced.

The bill was referred back to the sub-committee for the purpose of re-drafting following which it will be submitted for final approval. Eight affirmative votes are required to pass the measure out as a delegation bill.

A further item provided for in the new bill, allows an increase in traveling expenses to the County Superintendent of Schools, of $500 per annum.

Assemblyman Christian announced that he will introduce his recommendations in the form of a separate bill.

OAKLAND-L. A. TRAIN 'PADRE' ON EXHIBITION

New Crack Train Over Coast
Line of S. P. Can Be Seen Tomorrow.

"Inauguration of our new train, the 'Padre', Oakland's Coast Route train to Los Angeles, is just like bringing a new industry to California, because it means a large investment and increased expenditures here," said J. H. Dyer, general manager of the Southern Pacific Company, today in commenting on the new train, which starts its first run Sunday evening.

"It will cost the Southern Pacific $1,000,000 a year to run the 'Padre' between Oakland and Los Angeles. This is money paid out each day for wages, fuel and other items and directly or indirectly is a stimulus to all lines of business. In addition, the equipment and material is an investment of about $750,000."

The "Padre" will be on exhibition tomorrow in Oakland. The train, all ready to start its run, will be parked on Webster street, between Ninth and Eleventh streets, from 11 a. m. until 10 p. m. It will be open to inspection by the public. The Oakland Chamber of Commerce has sent invitations to city officials and officers of civic organizations in the East Bay communities to inspect the train, which is regarded as a new asset to the city.

Things they Ask the Tribune

"Is there a tent city at Venice, Ocean Park or Long Beach? Is there an auto camp at any of the above places or at Glendale?"

There are no tent cities or auto camps at any of the above mentioned places. There is, however, a good free camping place at Santa Monica, near the beach, furnished with gas stoves. Campers are allowed to remain there for several days. There is also a free auto camp at Los Angeles proper, according to the California State Auto association.

TOURIST CENTER OF CALIFORNIA

TO BE EASTBAY

Dr. C. G. Wilson, Community Expert, Urges Cooperation to Secure Results.

SAN LEANDRO, April 12.—The Eastbay will be the tourist center of California in the future, Dr. Charles G. Wilson, community expert, declared in an address before members of the San Leandro Chamber of Commerce, at luncheon at the Estrella hotel yesterday. Wilson, head of the community publicity bureau and former secretary of the Alameda Chamber of Commerce, is launching a movement in co-operation with the Oakland Real Estate Board and visitors to the house yesterday. More people will visit this part of California this coming year than at any time since the Exposition in San Francisco, Wilson said. Now is the time to get ready for the coming year by forethought and planning.

The qualifications for an ideal tourist resort are six: climate, scenery, historical interest, recreation, accessibility and hospitality. And the Eastbay possesses a remarkable combination of all six of these advantages. We have both the mountains and the ocean. The beaches afford bathing facilities, the lake boating and the hills hiking and camping; while the vacationist is never removed from the conveniences of the shopping districts and the pleasures of the theaters and cafes. And in addition, there is the attraction of the summer school courses at the University of California.

"What we most need is more good tourist hotels and apartments, and one or two auto camps 'de luxe.' The proposed Redwood Peak area would afford opportunity for working out an ideal lake and recreation could be provided amid scenes of great beauty. And if a first-class hotel could be located near the Alameda beaches, it would draw thousands of visitors from various parts of the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys in the summer time."

RELIGION BILL IS DISAPPROVED

SACRAMENTO, April 12.—Means of providing religious instruction for public school children are contained in a bill by Senator Lewis L. Dennett, Modesto, which the senate committee on education last night reported out with a recommendation that the measure do not pass. Previously the committee had voted 7 to 3 against reporting out the bill with a favorable recommendation.

Dennett's bill provides that upon request of the parents of guardian children may be excused from school two hours a week to obtain religious training. Vigorous opposition was voiced by Mrs. Dora A. Stearns of Los Angeles, representing the California public school protective league. "We are jealous of every hour the children have in school and the hours are all too few," she told the committee.

Bishop Moreland denied emphatically that this was an attempt to introduce the Bible in the public schools. Eighteen states and 290 cities, he said, are permitting the practice.

Rabbi Fried asserted he saw no objection to giving the plan a trial. It would merely present an opportunity to those parents who desired their children to have more religious instruction, he said.

Administration Wins Assembly Salary Fight

By E. VAN LIEH-MURKIN.

TRIBUNE BUREAU, Sacramento, April 12.—The first real test of strength witnessed in the Assembly, outside of the budget battle, between the administration's supporters and opponents, has materialized in the attempt to raise the salary of the superintendent of public instruction from $50,000 to $80,000, and in the effort to place the State School at Whittier under the control of the department of public instruction. In themselves, both measures appeared to be of minor importance, and had it not been for the fact that Will C. Wood, the superintendent of public instruction, is the administration's particular "hate" figure, little or no discussion would have developed. As it was, however, the first magnitude, charges and counter-charges flew to and fro, and when the roll was called on each measure, it was seen that the Richardson forces had won out, and that in a mild way, the administration men had been avenged for the numerous "blasts" that have emanated from the State Department of Education, in the form of public statements by the Superintendent Wood and his lieutenants.

However, the anti-administration men are not down-hearted and they declare that "if the Assembly stands with Governor Friend W. Richardson, the Senate has at least a modicum of its own, as is demonstrated by the budget hearings now proceeding in the Senate finance committee."

FIGHT ON FELLOW'S BILL.
The great fight of the day took place in the Senate over Assemblyman Roy Fellow's bill, which seeks to regulate private employment agencies through curbing the fees charged by these institutions. It has been an open secret for many weeks that a powerful employment agency lobby has been working against the bill, which failed to pass by one vote, the bill standing at 20 votes for the measure, to 19 against, 21 votes being required to pass the measure. Senator Daniel C. Murphy, who led the fight for the bill, subsequently changed his vote and gave notice of his intention to call for reconsideration of the bill.

In the course of his argument Senator Murphy charged that exorbitant fees are collected by employment agencies, that teachers' employment agencies are no exception to this rule, that State employment agencies are handicapped by small appropriations and are therefore unable to compete with the prosperous private agencies. He also read a letter from Superintendent of Education Wood in which that official pronounced himself in favor of strict regulation of the teachers' employment agencies, and declared that the fees charged are exorbitant and constitute a hardship.

BACK TEACHERS' AGENCIES.
Senator Frank Carr of Oakland took up the cudgels in behalf of the teachers' agencies, and proposed an amendment to the bill to eliminate public school teachers from its provisions. Other speakers also intimated that they would vote for the bill, if the teachers' agencies were not interfered with.

Senator Murphy vigorously fought against the amendment, and declared that, whereas the teachers' agencies constitute 5 per cent of all private employment agencies, they yet collect 11 per cent of all the fees collected by agencies.

In explaining why he wished the teachers' agencies exempted from the bill, Senator Carr said: "I feel that these agencies are filling a needed want. Teachers are often unable to bring political influence to bear in order to obtain positions, and they are helped by these agencies. I do not consider the fees charged exorbitant."

The amendment was defeated, whereupon Senator Charles Lavin of Venice spoke against the bill itself, declaring that the private employment agencies deal effectively with the unemployment problem, and that the proposed bill "would interfere with the individual's right to obtain work." He also charged "that the State Bureau of Labor was behind this effort to put the private employment agencies out of business."

POSSIBILITY OF PASSAGE.
Though the bill failed to pass by this narrow margin, there is yet a strong possibility that it may carry on reconsideration, owing to the fact that Senator Ralph E. Swing was absent when the roll was called, and it is claimed that he favors the measure. And in the event of a 20-20 vote being cast, as may well happen through the deciding vote of one or two voters, the deciding vote will be cast by Lieutenant-Governor C. C. Young, president of the Senate, and this vote also is claimed by the proponents of the bill.

Women from all parts of the state are expected to arrive in great numbers at the State capitol next Monday, to attend a public hearing on the Community Property bill, which is to be presided over by Governor Friend W. Richardson in person. The bill, which grants to wives the right to dispose of their half of the community property as they see fit, has passed both houses of the legislature, and only requires the gubernatorial signature in order to become law. There have been many rumors alleging that the governor is opposed to the bill, and there is much speculation as to the result.

sons for a public hearing on a measure which has already been heard in public in committee of both the senate and the assembly. MAY 11. There is much speculation as to the probable date on which the forty-fifth State legislature will adjourn. The assembly has just passed a resolution of floor leadership.

changing the rule to permit adjournment from one month to two weeks after adoption of the adjournment resolution. There is now before the house a resolution to adjourn on May 11, and it is probable therefore that the actual date for 'going home' will be fixed about that time.

In view of the fact that the assembly committee is more so than the senate committee, are so far behind in their schedule, night sessions are being held regularly up to the stroke of midnight, and even beyond that hour in many cases.

SIERRA-TO-SEA HIGHWAY.
The assembly committee on roads and highways reported out, at a late hour last night, the bill of Assemblyman Charles A. Foster of Fresno county, appropriating the amount of $3,000,000 for the completion of the Sierra-to-the-Sea highway, over the gap of thirty miles crossing the Coast range mountains. The committee attached a favorable recommendation to the bill, which now goes to the ways and means committee of the house.

A definite date has at last been set, after many postponements, for the hearing of the Edwin Baker re-apportionment measure, which would so substantially benefit Los

HOME FOR BLIND
ASKS $420,000

TRIBUNE BUREAU, Sacramento, April 12.—An amendment that the sum of $420,000 be allotted to the State Home for the Deaf and Blind Children at Berkeley, for the purpose of new construction, was introduced late last night before the Senate finance committee by Senator Herbert C. Jones of San Jose, and will be voted on when the committee meets to further consider the budget next Monday night. Senator Jones declared that this amount should be provided for the Home for the Blind out of the $19,000 which, he charged, had been mistakenly placed to the credit of the Elementary Schools fund by Mrs. Nellie B. Pierce of the Board of Control.

In the course of consideration of the budget by the committee, Senator Jones now comes up on the floor of the house Thursday, April 19. I am informed by Assemblyman E. H. Christian of Hayward, who has made a careful survey of the apportionment situation, that there is no chance whatsoever of the passage of the bill, whatever the optimistic Los Angeles may have to say about the "great surprise" which they claim to have in store.

versity, who was present, whether or not the university budget could take care of the expenditure, as suggested by the Governor. In his reply Sprout made it clear that, by cutting here and there, the university could do so if it was absolutely necessary, but could not allow for expansion of this work.

First Woman Named Court Commissioner

LOS ANGELES, April 12.—Miss Anne O'Keefe, who has just been appointed superior court commissioner, is said to be the first woman in California, if not in the entire west, to hold such a position.

She served as a clerk in the court for two years before the judges of Los Angeles county decided to appoint her to the position, which was recently made vacant by a resignation. Her duties, which she will assume immediately, will be to take care of ex-parte matters, approve bonds and generally relieve the judges of detail work.

The judges said they decided upon her appointment as commissioner because of her legal training, her competency and her affability.

ator Frank Boggs of Stockton introduced an amendment to set aside the sum of $57,000 for the Home Demonstration agency. This expenditure had recently been ordered by the governor to be defrayed out of the University of California budget, which supervises the work of the Home Demonstration agency. Senator Boggs asked Robert

Invitations Are Received for Church Wedding

Invitations were received this week for the wedding of Miss Carolyn Horner and Abraham Le Baron Gurney Jr., Saturday evening, April 28, at 8:30 o'clock, in St. John's Presbyterian church, Berkeley. Five hundred guests will be present at the church service, while at the home of Mrs. J. M. Horner more than one hundred and fifty friends of the bride couple will attend the reception and wedding supper.

Miss Horner, who is one of the popular Alpha Phi at the University of California, is to be attended by her sister, Miss Helen R. Horner, as maid of honor, and the Misses Janice Kergan, Marguerite Sanborn of Pasadena, Frances Anne Gummer of Stockton and Rebecca M. Horner as bridesmaids. William Horner will be best man at his sister's wedding and the ushers Messrs. Frank Hargreave, Milton Buckley, Miles York and Mr. Sheur.

April 20 Miss Horner and Miss Mildred Cook, fiancée of Ralph Lorimer, are to share honors at an elaborate bridge tea which Miss Phyllis Buckley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Buckley, will give at the home of her parents for half a hundred guests. Miss Buckley is in her senior year at Miss Head's school.

Another large affair for a group of brides-elect is the tea for which Miss Charlotte Moore has sent out 250 cards at the home of Ralph H. Moore of Arch street. Miss Horner will share the honors with Miss Annette Rolph, betrothed of John Percival Symes of Claremont. Miss Betty Barrows, fiancée of Frank Gibson Adams, and Miss Elizabeth Allard, fiancée of Brown.

Mrs. Frank Greenwood was hostess at luncheon and bridge Tuesday afternoon for a group of close friends, among whom were Mrs. Clarence Ogden, Mrs. Russell Van Horn Cooley, Mrs. Samuel S. Shepard, Mrs. Alice Buteau, Mrs. Chas. Aldrich, Mrs. Robert Stewart, Mrs. D. R. MacLennan and Mrs. Charles Reiger.

The engagement of Miss Laura Pearl, a junior at the University of California, and Stephen Detrich of this city was announced to a score of intimate friends of the Miss Gladys Owen, daughter of Mrs. Victor Owen, and Miss Katherine Adams of Grand avenue have sent out cards for a bridge luncheon to be held at the Hotel Marlborough the afternoon of May 5. The guests of honor will be Miss Mildred Cook, whose marriage to Ralph Lorimer will be an event of June, and Miss Marjorie Smith, betrothed of Howell Lovell.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Kuhn have returned from their honeymoon in the southern part of the state. They will make their home in Oakland.

TO SAIL FOR EUROPE.

April 27 is the date for which Mrs. George Washington Baker Jr. has sent out cards for mah jongs and bridge at her home in Piedmont, when the guest of honor will be her mother, Mrs. Thomas Watson Cushing. Mr. and Mrs. Cushing are to sail for Europe the first week in May. The summer they intend to spend along the Riviera, with Paris their chief headquarters while traveling on the continent.

Mrs. Pauline Jones Kirkpatrick arrived Wednesday on the Columbia via the Panama canal. Mrs. Kirkpatrick has been in New York and Washington for more than a year and en route west passed a month in Panama. She is now the guest of her mother, Mrs. Marie F. Jones, of Lenox avenue.

Telltale Symptoms of Woman's Ills

Every woman who suffers from backache, headaches, dragging-down pains, nervousness, frequent urination, constipation, or dependency should recognize in such symptoms some dangerous sign of her system which should have attention before some more serious ailment develops. These conditions are often evidenced by a sallow complexion, dark circles under the eyes, lassitude and sleeplessness. For nearly fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been pre-eminently successful in overcoming such ailments, and it is now recognized everywhere as the standard remedy for woman's ills.—Advertisement.

MINING MEN TO HOLD MEETING IN SACRAMENTO

SACRAMENTO, April 13.—Between two and three hundred mining men from all sections of California, Nevada and Southern Oregon are expected to arrive in this city to attend the mining conference which will be held in the afternoon and evening of April 20, under auspices of the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce.

Invitations to the conference have been sent to mine owners, superintendents, commercial and state mining officials whose names have been reported to J. H. Quire, manager of the department of mines and mining. The conference will not be limited, however, to persons holding invitations, but its sessions will be open to everyone who has an interest in the industry. The tentative program and list of speakers for the meeting were aranged at a meeting of the program committee held yesterday in the chamber of commerce and presided over by Clarence E. Jarvis, chairman of the advisory committee.

CURTAIN CALLS

LEE SHUBERT, the New York producer who was recently included in a trade by a producer-playwright and named one of the "glorified janitors who dictate to the theater in New York" because he did not accept the star's answer.

The reply of Shubert is lengthy. To begin with, there are two fundamental ways of looking at the theater. The aristocratic view holds that a coterie of select mortals can always decide from their inner consciousness what are the better things in art. They are believed to have been so educated and cultivated in the discernment of anything beautiful or emotionally stimulating that they can pick it out with fairly unerring judgment. They are to lead the masses of people—in whose discretion they put little trust—in choosing the finer and nobler thing of life, with a dim possibility that some day the masses may be brought up to their own level of artistic appreciation.

TWENTY SEASONS AGO TODAY

There is a new company at the Alameda Theater offering "An American Citizen."

"The democratic view maintains that art exists for the great body of the people primarily, and that they are their own best judges as to what suits them best. The democrat declares that people should not have artistic appreciation grafted upon them when they don't want it."

The charge brought against such a standpoint by the aristocrat is that it leads people to the mentally lazy attitude, "I don't know a thing about art, but I know what I like." Regular managers of today adopt the democratic viewpoint of the theatre—that it is for the people essentially. We do not look upon them as a mob. We cannot feel that a handful of distinctly ordained minds should set themselves up as the arbiters of what is right or wrong in the theatre.

Rostand's Fine Portrait of the Divine Sarah

Wild, Corot, Gustave Dore, Balzac, J. A. Fontaine and countless others whose names are in the hall of fame—but she has left behind her a shining example of work, tireless effort in behalf of the theatre.

In Forrest Izard's "Heroines of the Stage" is reproduced a word painting of the divine Sarah by Rostand that gives a better picture of the Bernhardt than anything that has yet been written or told of her. It is this:

"All these things I have known only in the telling—all these journeys, these changing skies, these adoring hearts, these flowers, these jewels, these embroideries, these lions, these one hundred and twelve roles, these eighty trunks, this glory, these carriages, these cheering crowds, hauling her carriage, this crocodile drinking champagne—all these things I say, astonish, dazzle, delight and move me less than something else I have often seen: this . . .

FORTY SEASONS AGO TODAY

"A brougham stops at a door; a woman enveloped in furs jumps out, threads her way with a smile through the crowd attracted by the jingling bell on the harness, and mounts a winding stair; plunges into a room crowded with flowers and heated like a hot-house, throws her little beribboned handbag, with its apparently inexhaustible contents, into one corner and her belongings but in another, takes off her furs and instantly dwindles into a mere scabbard of white silk, rushes onto a dimly lighted stage and immediately puts life into a whole lot of listless figures, lingers, back, inspiring every one with her own feverish energy; goes into the prompter's box, arranges her scenes, points out the proper gesture and intonation, flaps up in waistcoat and top hat, and, having done over again, shouts with fury; sits down, smiles, drinks tea and begins to rehearse her part; draws tears from one-eyed hardened actors who thrust their cupped hands out of the wings to watch her; returns to her room, where the decorators are waiting, demolishes their plans and reconstructs them; collapses, wipes her brow with a lace handkerchief, and up to the fifth hour, invades the premises of the astonished costumer, rummages in the wardrobes, makes up a costume, pleats and adjusts it, returns to her room and teaches the figurants how to dress their hair; has a piece read to her while she makes bouquets; listens to hundreds of letters, weeps over some tale of misfortune, and opens the inexhaustible little clinking handbag; confers with the English periquette; returns to the stage to superintend the lighting of a scene, obligates the lamps and reduces the electrician to a state of temporary insanity; sees, superior who has blundered the day before, remembers it and overwhelms him with her indignation; returns to her room for dinner; sits down to table, splendidly pale with fatigue; fumigates her plants; eats with pearls of Bohemian laughter; dresses for the evening performance while the manager reports from the other side of the curtain; sets with all her heart and soul; discusses business between the acts; remains at the theater until after the performance, and makes arrangements until 3 o'clock in the morning; does not make up her mind to go until she sees the stage manager respectfully endeavoring to keep awake; gets into her carriage; huddles herself into her furs and anticipates the delights of lying down and resting at last, and into laughter on remembering that some one is waiting to see her a live-act play; returns home; lis-

FORMER OAKLAND TEACHER HONORED

Advice from Hawaii assert that Earl Givens, former principal of Garfield school in Oakland, has been made superintendent of instruction for the Territory of Hawaii, having been appointed by Governor Farrington.

Givens was principal of the McKinley school at Honolulu for many years. He came to Oakland and became principal of Garfield school in 1921, returning to Hawaii last season. Givens was rated in Oakland as one of its most progressive instructors.

Women's Mission Board to Gather

BERKELEY, April 13.—The conference of the Woman's Home Missionary Society will convene at the College Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, Tuesday, April 17.

The morning will be given over to reports of committees. In the afternoon Rev. Dawson of Placerville will address the gathering. A pageant will be given by the women of the College Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. Dr. R. A. Simonds, pastor of the church, will lead the morning devotions. Delegates from San Francisco, Oakland, Sacramento and Kane districts will be present.

The Models Sketched

—In the group at the left, the top figure wears a frock of Black Satin-back Canton, with full circular skirt and panels of same material, the unique blouse being elaborately embellished with Chinese embroidery. The model at the extreme left is of Carmel Satin-back Crepe with wide cashmere and graceful panels of fringe, the large collar finished with feather stitching. The seated figure is gowned in a straight-line style of Brown Canton, the Canton satin finished with fringe and design of gold beads and jet, the voice and sleeves being of ecru lace embroidery.

—In the right-hand group, the top model wears a dress of mouse trimmed with gold embroidery on neck and panel, tucked at hips, and draped skirt. Seated is a dress of Larvin Green with pleated side panels and gowns of self-material. The bold effect dress at the extreme right is of Navy Flat Crepe with under-blouse of Tan Georgia, large ball sleeves faced with Tan Georgia, draped skirt, pearl buckle.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL ADJUDICATION IS GETTING SUPPORT

Episcopalians Plan to Substitute Week-day Religious Services.

OMAHA, Neb., April 13 (By Associated Press).—Proposals to abandon Sunday school for children and substitute instead a week-day school, that staggered the delegates at the fourth educational conference of the Episcopal church here were in the hands of a special committee yesterday whose report Monday is awaited with considerable interest.

Bishop D. V. Chav, or denoted the "minister with an effeminate manner," who he characterized as a patron of afternoon teas and whose chief recreation he said was a matinee or a movie. He declared ministers of that type were not capable of winning many boys.

WEEK-DAY SERVICES URGED.

All churches are seeing the vital need for week-day religious instruction of children and the movement to have them receive it during regular school hours is spreading rapidly throughout the country. Dr. Edward Salgent of New York City, secretary of week-day religious instruction department of the Protestant Episcopal church, told the church's fourth annual educational conference here yesterday.

"The plan for week-day instruction is not a movement of any one church or single denomination," he said.

"While three years ago only five cities in as many States had the system in operation today there are some one hundred cities in about thirty States where the school boards have made it possible for the child upon the request of the parent to be excused to attend a school of religious instruction at the parent's choice held outside the school building."

PLAN IS SIMPLE.

"The plan is, however, simple," he declared. "Upon the home is placed the responsibility of writing in writing that it desires the public school to grant to the pupil a portion, usually the minimum of one hour, for religious instruction. The school grants this request provided the churches in the district have filed with it their intention to hold such a week-day church school and the readiness to agree to certain fundamental educational standards of equipment and efficiency which any model school calls for in the interests of the child."

IOWA WOMAN SLAIN.

DES MOINES, April 13.—(By Associated Press).—Mrs. Della Dickerson, 25, was shot and killed in her downtown room here last night. George Llewellyn, arrested several hours later and held by the police, denied knowledge of the shooting. He was arrested on information given the police by Miss Van Dickerson, sister-in-law of the dead woman who says she witnessed the shooting.

ORIGINAL WORK TO BE STRESSED AT PRINCETON

PRINCETON, N. J., April 13.—The most important change in the curriculum of Princeton University since the introduction of the preceptorial system was voted yesterday by the board of trustees. In the proposed changes the board, on recommendation of the faculty, approved a plan whereby hereafter emphasis will be laid upon the importance of concentration in the field of study and in the development of the principle of self-education by the students themselves.

To accomplish this result the student will be required to do independent study, which will consist of important reading or laboratory work not otherwise covered.

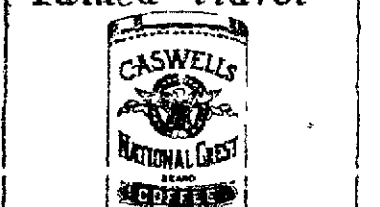

The degree at Princeton in the future will be awarded on the basis of the accumulation of credits for courses passed with, if the plans are successful, the evidence that the graduate will not only have covered a broad field of knowledge in the curriculum in general but will also have mastered at least the fundamentals in some particular field, and will have developed the habit and method of independent work.

SHRINE CIRCUS PLANNING INITIATIVE FOR SATURDAY

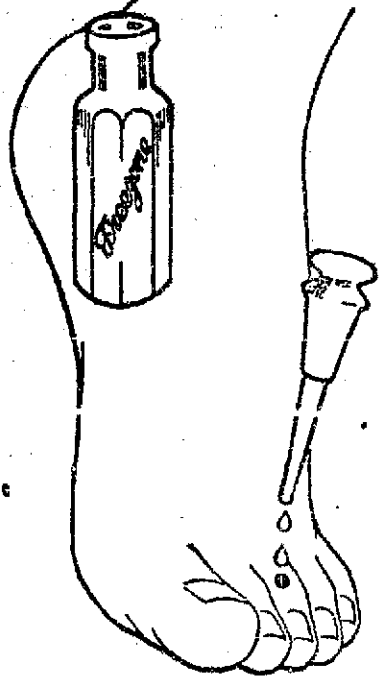

S. O. S. Has Been Sent Out to Members for Aid in Taking Care of Heavy Crowds.

Explaining that the attendance at the Shrine Circus has developed to such proportions that the regular working staff of the Oakland Shrine has been unable to meet the demands made upon it, Potemkin Wm. F. McCreck, yesterday sent out an S. O. S. call to the entire membership of the Shrine Temple asking the assistance of the members for the remainder of the week.

Special preparations are being made by W. F. Hamilton, director of the circus, for a matinee to be given tomorrow afternoon. All of the children in the various orphanages of the city will be special guests of the Shrine and Hamilton is re-arranging his program of entertainment for the benefit of the children.

Attention is called by the Shrine Circus committee to an error made in the publication of the tickets. A statement issued in this respect reads:

"It was originally planned to hold the Shrine Circus for the week starting April 7 and bring it to a close on Sunday evening, April 14. Later, members of the Shrine decided against Sunday performance with the result that the closing exhibition will be given on Monday. This decision was made after the tickets had been printed. The Shrine Circus committee, therefore, wishes to call attention to the fact that the final performance of the circus will take place Monday and that the tickets bearing the imprint of Sunday will be good for the Monday performance.

CLARA PHILLIPS BELIEVED SEEN IN GUATEMALA

LOS ANGELES, April 12.—Chief of Police Louis D. Oaks was awaiting word today from Guatemala, Central America, confirming a report received last night that Clara Phillips, a woman who was reported to have been seen in the county jail last fall, was under surveillance there.

The message received by Chief Oaks was signed by "Sam," and asked for a description of the "hannum slayer." Chief Oaks explained that the message was from a Guatemala official who had seen a woman that resembled Mrs. Phillips and wanted to make sure of the identification before taking decisive action.

SURVEY OF 1924 OUTLOOK IS MADE BY REPUBLICANS

Titular Heads of Party in Conferences Get Plans Well Under Way

WASHINGTON, April 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—A comprehensive survey of the Republican outlook for 1924 has been made the last few days in conferences here involving most of the titular leaders of the party. Not only men and policies, but such questions as the state of the party treasury and the choice of a 1924 campaign.

No far as policies are concerned, the administration proposal for American membership in the international council holds first rank in the discussion of 1924. Secretary Hughes recently discussed the proposal at great length with Senator Watson of Indiana, who pointed out in some detail the attitude of a group of anti-court Republican senators. The Indiana senator made his call at the state department after he had given over the whole subject with Republican Leader Lodge and at about the same time the court was discussed at a long conference between President Harding and Secretary Hoover.

A letter addressed to "Mr. Shief Kelly, Pasadena, Cal., U. S. A." was marked "returned for better address" by Pasadena post-office officials and sent back to the writer, I. Felbel, in Berlin, Germany.

After traveling 12,298 miles —to Berlin and back—it again reached the Pasadena postoffice with 200 marks more postage and re-addressed to "Mr. Shief of Police Kelly, Fair Oaks and Union."

This enabled the postoffice officials to deliver the letter to the police station, four blocks from the postoffice.

BARON JAILED ON

Eric von Hoetendorf, San Francisco stock salesman who is said to be a German baron and a friend of the Busch family of St. Louis and Pasadena, is charged with passing a fictitious check for $337 in a warrant sworn to by A. C. Montandou, 1213 Third street, San Francisco.

Von Hoetendorf is under arrest in San Francisco on a similar charge, involving an $800 check which he is alleged to have given Mrs. Eliza Prady of 1720 Broadway, San Francisco.

The warrant based on Montandou's complaint was issued by Police Judge Sylvester McAtee of San Francisco.

Von Hoetendorf has offices in the Humboldt building, San Francisco. During the war, it is asserted, the family of Adolph Busch, multimillionaire brewer, put up a bond for $100,000 to save Von Hoetendorf from internment.

Simple Foods Ideal for Children, Mothers Told

By EDNA B. KINARD.

SAN RAFAEL, April 13.—An ideal diet for children, whole wheat bread and cow's milk, were recommended to the twelfth annual convention of Second District, California Congress of Mothers, yesterday by Dr. M. Evangelina Jordan, child specialist of San Francisco. Sodas, doughnuts, cookies and jams were condemned as foods for school lunches.

"Infants are raised on prepared foods and fed on rich dishes until their young teeth are completely destroyed and their health undermined," declared the speaker. "More young persons suffer destruction of their health through use of certain kinds of prepared foods than from any other source. Few children's mouths show perfect teeth."

Soft goods, sugar and white breads were pronounced the enemy of good teeth by Dr. Jordan, who asserted that the average child was never provided hard foods or proper vegetables.

Breakfast of fruit, egg, toast and milk, with a simple lunch of dark bread, sandwiches, hard cookies and a bottle of milk were offered as proper menus for children. Dr. Jordan suggested the eating of apple or raw carrot for the sake of dental health.

MARRIAGE LAW REVIEWED.

In urging study of the proposed federal marriage and divorce law, the speaker under the legislative department, declared there were 13,000 girls and 16,000 boys of 15 years of age now married in the United States and 50,000 girls 16 years old married. She reviewed the purposes of a national child labor amendment, and stressed the acceptance of the Shepard-Towner act; the equalization of the age of majority, extending protection of the law to girls as well as boys, and the community property bill, outstanding pieces of legislation upon which organized women agreed.

"If the governor should sign the community property bill, which has passed both houses, it probably will be again held up by referendum," the speaker admitted. She admitted, too, the practical wiping out of the Industrial Code for Women at Senate. Protest against change in the part-time education law of the state and endorsement of the bill which would place the Whittier School for Boys under the State Board of Education were expressed.

Second District, California Congress of Mothers, has a present membership of 12,000, scattered through 273 associations according to the report of Mrs. Christina Murphy of Brentwood, Contra Costa county, chairman of extension. A round table on membership was conducted by Mrs. J. J. Barry of Petaluma, chairman.

Mrs. C. A. Kelly of Berkeley, a past president of Second District, was the speaker under the department of thrift. Mrs. F. Hamilton, Berkeley, chairman, presented the annual report.

The closing convention address this afternoon was delivered by Mrs. Harvey V. Miller of Alameda. San Rafael Education of Mothers' Club tonight will entertain at a dinner at Hotel Rafael in compliment to the retiring and incoming officers. A. Dorkheim will be toastmaster.

According to Dr. Stadtmuller, California will receive approximately $17,000 under the Shepard-Towner act each year of the coming biennium. The state in turn is offering an appropriation to counties meeting the fund under certain conditions, to carry on health work among women and children, she announced.

Dr. Jordan and Dr. Stadtmuller were presented by the child hygiene department of the district, Mrs. F. L. Bueckhauser, Oakland, chairman. In her report Mrs. Bueckhauser reviewed the work of the parent-teacher organizations along the lines of mid-morning lunches, thereby reducing the percentage of undernourishment; the maintaining of day nurseries, providing hot lunches for school children, equipping nurse and rest rooms for teachers and students.

Employment of mothers in public playgrounds was recommended by this chairman.

"Are Our School Dances, Public Dances?" was the question offered the convention by Mrs. A. E. Thurston, chairman of legislation, in her annual report. Although no answer was attempted attention was directed to a survey which reported that all girls attending public dance halls must be accompanied by a parent.

LABORITE M. P.'S SHORE THROUGH 21-HOUR DEBATE

Bonar Law Government Wins
Several Tests in House; Commons Adjourns.

By LLOYD ALLEN
United Press Staff Correspondent.
LONDON, April 13.—The House of Commons debated throughout the night and until after noon today, Labor members sprawled asleep on benches, government supporters dozed and nodded as one speaker after another droned on; occasional test votes interrupted the penance of the slumberers.

Finally, after the session had lasted 21 hours, the bill before the House was voted upon, passed its third reading and weary members sagged home to bed. Commons adjourned until Monday, with supporters of Bonar Law breathing easier.

It was the big test of strength for Bonar Law's government. LABOR MEMBERS SING.
The army and air force annual bill, subject of the debate, was relatively unimportant; any other subject would have done as well. The government was determined to demonstrate that it still has a clear majority over all opposition in the House.

The long session was comparatively peaceful, although in the night Labor M. P.s sang "John Brown's Body" loudly, while votes were being taken. On each test vote the government won.
About 10:30 this morning a Labor member moved an amendment to the army and air force bill, substituting imprisonment for the death penalty, now prescribed for army deserters. The commons rejected the amendment by a vote of 175 to 103 after two hours' debate.

"REMOVE THE CORPSES."
During the voting the shores of two labor members resounded through the noisy house.

The sleepers awoke indignant when a Tory member demanded that the "corpses be removed." The government's decision to give in to the demand of Labor that the plans for aiding ex-service men be modified resulted in restoring order in the house and the long session was not marked by the fierce antagonism that blazed up Wednesday.

In the absence of Ramsey MacDonald, J. H. Thomas led the Laborites.

GIRL STUDENTS IN HIGH SCHOOL BUT NOT IN COOKING

Future Brides of Oakland Instructed in Intricacies of Housewifery.

By FRANCES MONTGOMERY.
We have the pleasure of introducing to you the future Oakland bride. She can design and make her own frocks, build her own hats, and she can cook! Oh, how she can cook!

Of course, she's not thinking about becoming a bride just yet, but when the time does come she will be just grand mistress of the art of housekeeping and all its branches, and will be able to prove the statement which the cookbook makes about the chicken-a-laking recipe being perfectly delicious. Who is she? Oh, yes, she is the Oakland high school girl, and she is becoming proficient at seventeen in the household arts which many a young woman of yesterday was still learning at twenty-five and was eating it drudgery.

BUSINESS MEN FED.

Last week at Oakland high school an interesting luncheon took place. Had there been a formal announcement it would have read like this: "Oakland business men are served at a three-course luncheon by Miss Ida Wattenbarger's class in cooking."

Ten hungry men were fed a real home-cooked meal by eighteen pretty girls, who planned, bought, prepared and served the delicious food themselves, all the way from soup to nuts.

And a few days ago they did it again, but not for the business men. Members of the faculty were there, and we can vouch for the menu as including dishes just like another used to make. Oh, teachers, the coming Oakland housewife knows how to make gravy with no other flavor but that of the original ingredients. She knows how to lard a three-dollar candidate's cake with the frosting an inch thick.

She can make a baked apple melt in your mouth and she can roast coffee, too. What's more, she can do all these things economically. Perhaps the high school kitchen is a bit more spacious than the home culinary department, but the aroma of sizzling chops and steaming coffee has just the same effect on the appetite. On a wall of the school kitchen hang charts depicting properly dissected beef and pork, so the cooking student may buy intelligently from the butcher.

the world could see a certain sewing room full of high school girls with scissors, thimbles, needles and thread turning out everything from a 100 per cent French seam to a tailored coat, the word "flapper" would be banished from the English language and a few matrons we know would sit up and take notice.

These girls not only make their own clothes, but supply their own wardrobe. Day Nursery and the Associated Charities with clothing and linens.

Miss Frances Ogier is head of the department of domestic science in the Oakland High school, and besides believing in her own eyes, we have it from both faculty and students that from freshman to principal they are one big family, enjoying life, law and learning.

As for these future brides of Oakland, they are going to be a revelation to the community. They are the girls who will be able to put the red in cooking without scorching the family steak.

YEOMEN HOLD MEETING.
RICHMOND, April 12. — Olive Harnested of the Yeomen, at their meeting last night, made plans to attend the big gathering in their order in San Francisco soon. A supper was served by the following committee: Mesdames Ida Lester, Nellie Weston and Ethel Wagner.

DRIVER HURT AS CAR LEAVES ROAD

MONTEREY, April 12. — Miss Isabel Chase, well known in the bay cities, was badly injured near Pebble Beach last night, when the steering knuckle on her car broke, and machine and driver plunged into a ravine.

Miss Chase was able to walk on to Pebble Beach Lodge, where her injuries were dressed, and she was forwarded on to Hotel Del Monte, whither she was bound when the accident occurred.

RADIO CLUB HOLDS MEETING.

RICHMOND, April 12. — The Radio club held an interesting session in the basement of the city hall last night. Wireless fans in growing numbers are installing amateur receiving sets here, and a regular broadcasting apparatus which will function every day. Recent experiments with the apparatus now being installed proved satisfactory.

The ISLE of LOST SHIPS

On stormy nights sailors talk of the Isle of Lost Ships, floating in the still waters of Sargasso Sea, where the perished galleys, and great vessels of centuries have drifted together a tangle of seaweed.

And here a strange colony of castaways ruled over by a giant brute with a law among them that every woman must choose a mate within a day and the man must defend his prize.

TONY ANGELO IS CENTER OF GRILL SHOOTING PROBE

Attempt Being Made by Police to Connect Him With Wounding of Fireman

An attempt to identify Tony Angelo, who was arrested last night in San Leandro by Deputy Sheriff Joseph Soares, as one of the men who took part in the shooting in Louis Grill on New Year's eve, when Milton Sheldon, of the Oakland fire department, was wounded, is being made today by the Oakland police.

Arrangements were made to take witnesses of the shooting to the county jail, where Angelo is being held, to try to identify him. It was also announced that a second arrest in connection with the wounding of Sheldon could be expected before tonight.

HIT BY STRAY BULLET.

The shooting in the grill is alleged to have followed an argument between Joseph Lacey, an attorney, the bartender of the grill and two men, said to have been the companions of Lacey. Several shots were fired and Sheldon, who was standing near the bar, was struck by a stray bullet. Since the affair the police have been unable to locate the men said to have been Lacey's companions.

Subsequently, Lacey was charged with implication in an attempt to commit murder, but the case was dismissed for lack of evidence.

Myron Harris, attorney for Angelo, spoke for his client today, saying that he had not been in the grill the night of the shooting and was not involved in any way.

UNDER OTHER CHARGE.

Angelo was arrested last night on a bench warrant issued by Superior Judge George Samuels. About four months ago Angelo was fined $300 by the justice court in San Leandro for violations of the traffic laws. Lacey was Angelo's attorney and his appeal for a new trial was denied by the Superior Court. A second attempt to obtain Angelo's release failed when the court denied a writ of habeas corpus. When Angelo failed to appear in court to pay his fine a bench warrant was issued.

When he was arrested last night, Deputy Sheriff Soares identified Angelo with descriptions of the man wanted in connection with the shooting.

Pipe Line Extension In District Taken Up

KNIGHTSEN, April 12.—At the regular meeting of the Knightsen Irrigation District Board of Directors this week the question of the extension of the pipe line to reach points which had been claimed by the owners, was not adequately served, was discussed. A committee of three consisting of E. L. Griggs, chairman; H. O. Abbott and H. W. Hedden was appointed to view the property in question and report at the next meeting.

It was the unanimous opinion of the board that there should be an extension of the pipe line to reach the points in question. Two of them would be selected by the board of directors or the directors from each division, and the other be appointed by the committee.

The committee would have their own organization and take on irrigation problems, making recommendations to the board. This it was believed, would make for greater unity.

The election for director in the third division will be held next Tuesday. This is to decide a tie vote between C. T. Dwyer and J. J. Moody.

Famous Teams—"Ham and eggs; fifty-fifty; pick and shovel; better and better; man and wife"—Bread and

Nucoa

The home team is man and wife, and the Winning Team with the Home Team everywhere is Bread and Nucoa.

Nucoa is the ever-sweet rich spread made from the snow-white meat of the coconut. There is no nut flavor, just the true spread flavor—the fresh as-all-outdoors taste that brings out the goodness of bread.

And speaking of the team fifty-fifty, Nucoa goes fifty-fifty with you on price—costs just half as much as the highest priced spread and adds the other fifty to the quality of foods served.

N. B. Try creamed onions, a la Nucoa—making the cream sauce by creaming a heaping tablespoonful of Nucoa with one of flour—add a cup of milk, cream to smoothness over a slow fire. You'll find Nucoa Cream Sauce the richest, yet most delicate you've ever tried.

BRIDGE ENGINEER SUICIDE.

SEATTLE, Wash., April 12.—Dependent because of an illness, Frank A. Rapp, 47, municipal bridge engineer, shot and killed himself today.

Oakland Woman Was Hereditary Chief of Plutes

Hartmann, who died Tuesday at her home, 1625 East Eighteenth street, aged 88, had for many years possessed the right to rule over the Plute tribe of Indians, but had preferred to live in civilization rather than exercise it, was revealed today with the filing of her will for probate by Attorney David J. Clark.

Mrs. Hartmann, who was hereditary ruler of the Plutes, necessary ruler of the Plutes, according to Clark.

Shortly after their marriage, which occurred in Nevada 10 years ago, the two came to Oakland and took the name of Hartmann.

Throughout the entire 40 years, according to Clark, Hartmann had the right to govern in Nevada and assume leadership among the Plutes, and this right was inherited by his widow, neither, however, cared to exercise it.

Mrs. Hartmann's estate includes ten acres in the Plute country in Nevada which was willed to her and her husband several years ago by the government, and which is now in the neighborhood of several important oil discoveries, Clark said. It is believed that the property may turn out to be of great value.

The heirs to Mrs. Hartmann's estate, which includes the family home in East Oakland are her three sons—John and George, of Cottonwood, and Arthur Hartmann of Oakland.

OAKLANDER BUYS BLUE CASTLE AS U. S. CONSULATE

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Davis Visit Son, American Agent in Costa Rica

Roy T. Davis, America's youngest consul, appointed last year to the consulate at Costa Rica, has purchased for the government the Blue Castle for the legation premises at San Jose in Costa Rica.

News of the purchase was sent to Oakland by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Davis, who are visiting in Costa Rica after an eventful voyage from this city.

Davis and his wife left this city January 31 of this year on the Colombia and arrived in Costa Rica during the latter part of February, having traversed 3549 miles.

EVERY DAY ENJOYED.

"Every day since our arrival has been full," Davis writes to The Tribune. "Many people have called on us at the legation, including government officials, foreign diplomats, and American representatives from the St. Louis, Mo., chamber of commerce were in San Jose and were entertained by the American minister."

"Soon after our arrival, our son purchased the Blue Castle, a magnificent building, for the United States Government for legation premises. This building was erected at a cost of $125,000. We have enjoyed helping plan for remodeling and furnishing it so that they can move into it at an early date."

INTERESTING TRIPS.

"We have visited the interesting places in San Jose. Recently we rode to the top of the mountains to see the volcano Poas, which throws out great clouds of steam and water bubbling up from the center of the earth. The first part of this trip was made by rail but the president's private car, but it was necessary to ride horseback for six hours from the end of the railroad to the top of the mountains."

"The climate on the seashore is about like the climate in the States in the summer time, but the climate in San Jose is like the climate in Missouri in May. It is never cold enough for a fire and never hot enough for a light summer suit. The climate is ideal and we are having a great and glorious time, but we have yet to find a place better than Oakland."

B. F. Wright Named Mayor of Monterey

MONTEREY, April 12.—B. F. Wright, well-known realtor of this section, was named mayor of Monterey at the election held at the city hall yesterday.

Royce, retired army officer, ran but 12 votes behind the successful candidate. Major William H. Forrester, another retired army officer, was elected commander-in-chief of the city's fire department.

The vote at yesterday's election was the largest ever registered in this city, a total of 1135 out of a registration of 1740 being cast. It rained throughout the day, and served to cut the vote down somewhat.

Minick, who led the entire field in number of votes, was given the highest vote ever cast for an aldermanic candidate in this city. His total was 609.

Lem F. Knisley and George McDonald, present councilmen, were both defeated.

Wartime Exposure Fatal to Engineer

SARATOGA, April 12.—Funeral services will be held early next week at Calaveras for the late J. Prescott, who died Sunday at Prescott, Ariz., from tuberculosis contracted while in the United States army. Prescott, his wife and a 4-year-old child, came to Saratoga some months ago for medical treatment. After examinations by the surgeons at the Palo Alto base hospital he was sent to Prescott, Ariz., but the change came too late.

Prescott was formerly a construction engineer and was responsible for the successful completion of many extensive projects in this section of the state, including the construction of the Palo Alto dam and the Palo Alto plant in this county.

SEATTLE, Wash., April 12.—Dependent because of an illness, Frank A. Rapp, 47, municipal bridge engineer, shot and killed himself today.

Oakland Woman Was Hereditary Chief of Plutes

Hartmann, who died Tuesday at her home, 1625 East Eighteenth street, aged 88, had for many years possessed the right to rule over the Plute tribe of Indians, but had preferred to live in civilization rather than exercise it, was revealed today with the filing of her will for probate by Attorney David J. Clark.

Mrs. Hartmann, who was hereditary ruler of the Plutes, necessary ruler of the Plutes, according to Clark.

Shortly after their marriage, which occurred in Nevada 10 years ago, the two came to Oakland and took the name of Hartmann.

Throughout the entire 40 years, according to Clark, Hartmann had the right to govern in Nevada and assume leadership among the Plutes, and this right was inherited by his widow, neither, however, cared to exercise it.

Mrs. Hartmann's estate includes ten acres in the Plute country in Nevada which was willed to her and her husband several years ago by the government, and which is now in the neighborhood of several important oil discoveries, Clark said. It is believed that the property may turn out to be of great value.

The heirs to Mrs. Hartmann's estate, which includes the family home in East Oakland are her three sons—John and George, of Cottonwood, and Arthur Hartmann of Oakland.

Hayward Is Filmed By Californians, Inc.

HAYWARD, April 12.—Moving pictures of Hayward, to be distributed throughout the east, were taken today by the moving picture department of Californians, Inc. The film was taken under the direction of T. L. Kelly, chairman of the general committee, plans for the day, including the devising of a program of entertainment, have been outlined. Meetings were held today by committees on advertising headed by M. S. Maule and H. P. Angus.

EINSTEIN THEORY IS NOT PROVED, SEE DECLARES

Greatest Humbucker in History Says U. S. Astronomer at Mare Island.

VALLEJO, April 13 (By the Associated Press).—A statement saying that he "vigorously contested" the announcement made last night by Dr. W. W. Campbell, director of the Lick Observatory, that development of photographs taken during the latest eclipse of the sun showed facts confirming the Einstein theory of relativity has been made public here by Captain T. J. J. See, professor of astronomy in the United States Navy and government astronomer at Mare Island Navy yard. Professor See says:

The celebrated English physicist, Henry Cavendish (1731-1804) calculated the effect of Newton's theory that the corpuscles of light are bent toward the sun in passing near it; and in 1801 Dr. J. von Soldner, a German physicist of eminence in his day, actually derived the formula recently used by Einstein. This was 122 years ago. Einstein never once mentions Soldner in his writings. This is bad enough, but the worst is yet to come.

COPIED BY EINSTEIN. It has been shown by Professor Dr. E. Gehlrke, director of the Imperial Physical and Technical Institute of Berlin, a position first filled by Helmholtz, and by Professor P. Leonard of Heidelberg, winner of the Nobel prize in physics, that Soldner omitted a certain factor in his formula of 1801, which error Einstein also copied when he appropriated the Einstein-Soldner formula in the Einstein paper of 1911. In a subsequent paper to the Berlin Academy of Sciences, 1915, Einstein acknowledged this, and said as best he could, yet could not prevent the question and exposure by Professor Leonard of Berlin and Westin of Stockholm. Professor Westin charges Einstein with downright plagiarism, saying:

"From these facts the conclusion seems inevitable that Einstein cannot be regarded as a scientist of real note; he is not an honest investigator."

Thus Westin protested to the directorate of the Nobel Foundation against the award of Einstein. For these and other reasons the Swedish Academy of Sciences refused Einstein any recognition of the theory of relativity. Let this fact be plainly understood in considering the Newton-Soldner refutation of the eclipse deduced from the theory in Australia. The value of the eclipse observations is recognized, but the refutation of the starlight refraction to the credit of Newton-Soldner, not of Einstein.

"CANNOT BE CONFIRMED." It only remains to be pointed out that the Einstein Theory of Relativity is not confirmed and cannot be confirmed. A fundamental postulate of Einsteinism is that the ether does not exist, and gravity is not a force but a property of space. These crazy vagaries require mention, beyond the remark that such discussion is a disgrace to our age. Is it any wonder that the Paris Academy of Sciences, October 24, 1921, came out with conspicuous proclamations by Professors Picard and Painleve

HAVE KIDNEYS EXAMINED BY YOUR DOCTOR

Take Salts to Wash Kidneys

Bladder Bothers

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food makes the kidneys almost paralyzed in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels of the urinary system are clogged and you seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids, to help cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may be cured.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. By its use you have your kidneys examined your kidneys at least twice a year. Advertisement.

Council No. 6, U. P. E. C. to Give Social Dance Tomorrow Night.

SAN LEANDRO, April 13.—Members of the drill team of San Leandro U. P. E. C. Council No. 6, will give a social dance at St. Joseph's hall, Davis street, tomorrow night. Numerous features have been arranged for and excellent music obtained.

Advance indications point to an unusually large attendance. Funds derived will go to equipment and carrying out of the team which is now in demand through all this section.

The following committee is in charge of tomorrow night's affair: Messrs. J. R. Kardoza, chairman; M. Nello, Mary Atkinson, Edna Bettencourt, Eileen Quadros, and Mary Faustina.

against Einsteinism, and in favor of Newtonian mechanics?

Everybody, from Huyghens, Newton, Herschel, Maxwell, Helmholtz, Tisserand, Lord Kelvin, Poincare, etc., to our own Michelson, knows very well that the ether does really exist and act with forces equivalent to the breaking strength of millions of immense cables of the strongest steel, for holding planets in their orbits. Without the ether for pulling the planets about the sun, Newton knew perfectly well that the planets would fly the tangent, like water thrown from a revolving grindstone, and thus our whole universe would come to wreck in a very little while. The order of the solar system would not endure a month.

It is only remains to be pointed out that the Einstein Theory of Relativity is not confirmed and cannot be confirmed. A fundamental postulate of Einsteinism is that the ether does not exist, and gravity is not a force but a property of space. These crazy vagaries require mention, beyond the remark that such discussion is a disgrace to our age. PASADENA, April 13.—Preparations to take photographs of the total solar eclipse in southern California next September, to disprove or further confirm the Einstein theory of relativity are being made at the Mount Wilson observatory. It was announced by Dr. W. S. Adams, acting director.

Dr. Adams declared the statements of Dr. W. W. Campbell, director of the Lick Observatory, on evidence advanced photographs taken in Australia last year, were "universally acceptable to scientists," and in his own opinion, "were conclusive." But the Mount Wilson observatory would take photographs as originally planned.

OAKLAND WILL FIGHT TAKING TITLE OF ROAD

Skyline Boulevard Belongs to Eastbay; Coast Counties Asked to Renounce It

The Skyline boulevard is located in Oakland. This is the word that is being sent by the Oakland Chamber of Commerce to those contemplating the building of a road along the crest of the Santa Cruz mountains. In a resolution directed to the promoters of this road, the Oakland Chamber claims priority rights to the name "Skyline Boulevard."

The resolution follows: "Whereas, A boulevard along the crest of the Santa Cruz mountains has been contemplated for several years and considerable activity evidenced by the chambers of commerce of Santa Clara, Santa Cruz and San Benito counties, and 'Whereas, The proposed boulevard, or portions of it, have been surveyed and actual work started, and in some sections portions of it completed, and 'Whereas, The routing of this boulevard has been the subject of much controversy, and 'Whereas, In the recent publicity this boulevard has been referred to as the 'Skyline Boulevard,' now, therefore "Be it resolved, That the Oakland Chamber of Commerce do hereby call to the attention of all parties concerned in the development of this highway or boulevard that in May, 1915, a road was commenced over the Contra Costa Hills in Alameda county, connecting the Tunnel road with the city of Oakland; that it was completed in September, 1915; that since its completion it has always been referred to as the 'Skyline Boulevard'; that this Skyline Boulevard has been traveled by thousands of California visitors; that it has become internationally known as one of the great highways of the Pacific Coast; that it has been referred to in the most beautiful scenic roads in the world; and 'That it is the policy of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce to suggest to the supporters of this contemplated boulevard along the crest of the Santa Cruz mountains that the name 'Skyline' be not used, thus avoiding confusion in the designation of the two highways."

STORE SAVED BY NEW FIRE ENGINE

RIPON, April 12.—The recently purchased chemical engine was all that saved the main business block from burning to the ground early yesterday morning, when flames broke out in the meat market of St. Andrew and Garrison streets.

The fire was extinguished by the new engine, which arrived on the scene in time to prevent the fire from spreading to the main business block. The fire was caused by a gas leak in the meat market.

Brownings Will Be Arraigned Today

SALT LAKE CITY, April 13.—Merriner Brown and John Brown, Jr., charged with first degree murder in connection with the death of Benjamin Hollenbeck here last Tuesday, are to be arraigned this afternoon, according to announcement. D'Annunzio Says Turkish Revival IS NOT A MYTH

By LOUISE BRYANT, International News Service Staff Correspondent. (Copyright, 1923, by International News Service.)

GARDONE, Riviera, Italy, April 13.—There is no menace in the great Mohammedan revival which has sprung to life in the Near East under Mustafa Kemal Pasha, in the opinion of Gabriele D'Annunzio, poet-warrior and former dictator of Fiume. He made this statement to me today as we walked in the garden of his beautiful villa.

The revival in the East will not destroy western civilization, but it may even save it," he claimed D'Annunzio emphatically.

This extraordinary man of literature, war and romance is a great admirer of the Turks. Recently the Turkish National Assembly conferred upon him the rank of "pasha," which is equivalent to the rank of general in the Turkish army.

D'Annunzio is at work upon a book to be called "The Renaissance of Islam," which will go so far as to reinterpret parts of the Koran—the Mohammedan Bible.

D'Annunzio said he was prepared to aid the Kemalists with any means in his power. Late in the summer he intends to fly to Constantinople to inspect and perhaps help train Turkish troops.

In order to keep in closest possible touch with Ankara, D'Annunzio is having a private wireless plant constructed upon the grounds of his home. Today workmen were engaged upon this task, erecting a tower for the sending and receiving apparatus.

SOCIETIES FAVOR SALARY BOOST

A unanimous vote in favor of Amendment No. 1 which provides for an increase of 50 cents a day in the salaries of city employees after a period of two years of service, was reported by W. H. McElrath, chairman of the committee of the police and firemen.

"As a measure of testing out public sentiment on Amendment No. 1 we arranged to have resolutions of endorsement presented before two different lodges, clubs and organizations," explained McElrath. "The resolutions were so drawn as to call for discussion and a vote and so far we have heard from 97 of the organizations in the city. In every case the vote was unanimous in our favor."

ALAMEDA WILL STAGE MEETING TO HOLD MEETING

ALAMEDA, April 13.—A mass meeting of Alameda residents is to be held in the council chambers of the city hall next week at a date to be decided later under the leadership of the Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of conducting an educational campaign in the proposed construction of a tube under the estuary. The agreement was reached last night at a meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce when the tube question came up for discussion and when Lochiel M. King, speaker on the subject, declared he felt the residents of the city at large should hear of the many advantages the construction of a tube would mean to the city of Alameda.

Council Henry Matthews, member of the citizens' committee of the Alameda High School, appeared before the meeting and spoke in behalf of the proposed bond issue as well as the proposed Alameda Day which is to be held at the Neptune beach resort under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce and the Park Street Merchants' Association.

Edward Babue, president of the organization, presided at the meeting, which was preceded by a dinner.

Carter Defends Work on Harbor and Lake Merritt

A campaign statement in answer to anti-administration charges regarding the harbor was issued today by Commissioner A. E. Carter of the department of public works, who defends the expenditure of city money for the improvement of the harbor and Lake Merritt. He asserts that the latter job, which is the item most generally attacked, was almost impossible from a sanitary standpoint.

Carter's statement is an analysis and recapitulation of harbor figures, according to the officials, and contains much material which has not before been published concerning the development of the harbor and Lake Merritt.

Having noted that criticism has been made of the use of harbor money in the development of Lake Merritt, and as the expenditures of all money appropriated are spent both for harbor work and the Lake Merritt project under my supervision and direction, I wish to deny that any money has been spent or will be expended for any other purpose than the harbor work.

"CAREFUL CONSIDERATION." The appropriation made by the Council of the City of Oakland for harbor work during the last two years amounted to $710,000, and this money has been expended, after careful consideration was given to the needs of the waterfront, and plans and estimates were made by me and approved by me as follows:

In the operation of the dredge, in the reclamation work, and in deepening of channels, the sum of $225,000 was spent. The large dredge operated in the western waterfront, deepening the channel and approaches to the wharves now existing. The material excavated was placed behind the bulkhead for the creation of a solid fill for a roadway to be known as West Fourteenth street, and in reclaiming the tide flats adjacent thereto.

All this work was necessary in order to take care of the future development, which we expect to make on this portion of our waterfront.

Of the sum spent for this work it was necessary to expend $17,000 for painting the dredge, which had been followed by my personal inspection of the work to the extent that it was almost useless.

Of the $175,000 spent for new structures, which includes $14,000 for a new floating pier, $11,000 was expended for a new wharf between Hamilton and Livingston street; $10,000 for bulkheading in the north arm of the Estuary between Harbor and Street; the remainder being spent in the building of the new pier at the foot of Castro street, which is still in the course of construction.

It was also necessary to expend $22,775 for new equipment, which includes $14,000 for a new floating pier, $11,000 for a new wharf between Hamilton and Livingston street; $10,000 for bulkheading in the north arm of the Estuary between Harbor and Street; the remainder being spent in the building of the new pier at the foot of Castro street, which is still in the course of construction.

SENATOR LENROOT TO BE LUNCHEON GUEST OF C. OF C.

Wisconsin Statesman Will Deliver Message to West In Address

United States Senator Irvine L. Lenroot of Wisconsin will be the guest of honor of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon meeting to be held at Hotel Oakland next Tuesday.

"Our Government at Washington—Is It to Be a Government By or For the People?" is the subject which Senator Lenroot has announced for his talk on this occasion. Incorporated in it will be what he calls a real message to the people of the west.

Senator Lenroot is recognized as one of the powers of the Republican party and is a leader in the Senate. He is also a Western Senator, and is particularly desirous of knowing the problems of the Pacific coast. He was a long-time friend and associate of P. F. Porter, president of the Oakland Real Estate board, and Porter has joined the Chamber of Commerce in extending the invitation to next Tuesday's meeting.

His first term in the Senate, when he was elected to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Paul G. Hastings. Prior to that time he had been a member of the House of Representatives in the 61st, 62d, 63d, 64th and 65th congresses, serving from 1909 to 1919. His public service also includes three terms in the Wisconsin House of Representatives. He was speaker of the Wisconsin House in 1903 and 1905.

Lenroot is one of the fathers of the railroad commission idea. He has been a member of a number of important committees, including those on appropriations, commerce, public buildings and grounds.

Invitations to the Lenroot luncheon are being out to the 3000 members of the Chamber of Commerce today.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., April 12.—(By Associated Press.)—Armed with a revolver and a phial of holy oils to administer extreme unction to his victim, the Rev. Father Charles Dillon, assistant rector of St. Augustine's Catholic church, last night shot and killed the Rev. Father Henry O'Neill, pastor of the parish, following a quarrel at the dinner table. The Rev. O'Neill had ordered him from the house, but Dillon refused to leave. The killing of Father O'Neill, estimated at thirteen months of ill-treatment, during which, he said, Father O'Neill "treated me like a little boy, and assumed to ward off the attitude of a czar."

"I protested in vain against his attitude," he said, "and last night when we quarreled over the matter at dinner he ordered me to pack my belongings to get out."

VICTIM GIVEN HOLY OIL.
The Dillon is being held. Father O'Neill, his assistant, and Father McCullough were at the table, he said. Father O'Neill ordered Dillon to go upstairs and "pack his strip." Instead Dillon went to his room, obtained a revolver and returned.

"I intended to give him a chance to confess and repent before I killed him," the police report Dillon as saying, "but as I advanced into the room with the revolver extended, I saw him grab a salt cellar to throw at me, and I fired twice."

98 Out of Every 100 Women Benefited

An Absolutely Reliable Statement
Important to Every Woman

Remarkable Results Shown by a Nation Wide Canvass of Women Purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
50,000 Women Answer

For some time a circular has been enclosed with each bottle of our medicine bearing this question:
"Have you received benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?"

Replies, to date, have been received from over 50,000 women answering that question.

98 per cent of which say YES.
That means that 98 out of every 100 women who take the medicine for the ailments for which it is recommended are benefited by it.

This is a most remarkable record of efficiency. We doubt if any other medicine in the world equals it.

Think of it—only two women out of 100 received no benefit—98 successes out of a possible 100.
Did you ever hear of anything like it? We must admit that we, ourselves, are astonished.

Of course we know that our medicine does benefit the large majority of women who take it. But that only two out of 100 received no benefit is most astonishing.

It only goes to prove, however, that a medicine specialized for certain definite ailments—not a cure all—one that is made by the most scientific process; not from drugs, but from a combination of nature's roots and herbs, can and does do more good than hastily prepared prescriptions.

You see, we have been making, improving and refining this medicine for over 50 years until it is so perfect and so well adapted to women's needs that it actually has the virtue to benefit 98 out of every 100 women who take it.

It's reliability and recognized efficiency has gained for it a sale

ARIZONA SLAYER IS HANGED FOR WOMAN'S MURDER

Before Sunrise Protesting His Innocence.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEADERSHIP TO TRIBUNE

FLORENCE, Arizona, April 13.—Paul V. Hadley died on the gallows before sunrise today for the murder of Mrs. Anna C. Johnson. The trap was pulled at 5:10 o'clock and Hadley was pronounced dead at 5:22.

The condemned man maintained to the end his claim of innocence of the crime, for which he was executed. He met his fate calmly, without display of fear or bravado.

Hadley mounted the platform without hesitation. He had eaten no breakfast, but had dressed with deliberate care.

"I am innocent and ready to meet my death," was his only statement.

HADLEY BAPTIZED.

Hadley, at his own request, was baptized during the night by the Rev. J. W. Henderson, prison chaplain, and Dr. James Hunter, a former chaplain. Dr. Hunter remained all night in the cell and sang hymns for Hadley.

Just before the mask was adjusted, Dr. Hunter offered a prayer and kissed Hadley on the cheek.

Hadley, an escaped life term from the Oklahoma state penitentiary, was convicted of murdering Mrs. Johnson during an automobile trip over the Arizona desert in November, 1921.

In the group of 38 persons who witnessed the hanging was Peter Johnson, husband of the slain woman. Johnson, himself severely wounded at the time his wife was killed, was the state's principal witness in Hadley's two trials.

PLEA FOR LIFE FAILS.

Not until nearly midnight was Hadley abandoned for a stay of execution. His attorney, John L. Van Kirk, of Tucson, made an eleventh hour appeal to Governor Hunt for a further hearing on the plea for a commutation of sentence to life imprisonment, but was unsuccessful.

Hadley's body, unclaimed by relatives, was buried on the prison grounds. At his request the mask was not removed from his face. He is survived by his aged mother, two divorced wives and two children, according to his attorney.

Mrs. Ida Hadley, the second wife, who served with him in the Oklahoma penitentiary, obtained a divorce recently. The first wife and two children are living in New York, but the attorney refused to disclose her name.

MYSTERY PHONING.

One incident of the night which caused considerable comment was the receipt at 2 o'clock by Warden Sims of a long distance call from Denver. When the connection was made a woman's voice was heard but she spoke with such excitement that the warden could not understand her. She left the telephone and it was assumed that she had been made from a public telephone station in Denver.

In statements and letters last night Hadley declared his belief in religion and said he would not leave the world in a vengeful spirit toward those who "had not done right by me."

He expressed confidence that the fact of his innocence would sooner or later be disclosed. He also commented on capital punishment and said he believed if it was retained as an institution the responsibility for executing the convicted man should be placed in the hands of the officials of the county in which he was found guilty.

MUSKOGEE, Okla., April 13.—(By the Associated Press.)—The execution of Paul Hadley ends the most tragic romance ever recorded in official documents of Oklahoma. Since 1916, when Hadley and his bride, Ida, were tried in district court here for the murder of Sheriff W. T. Giles of Jefferson county, Texas, the pair had held a unique place in the annals of crime of the state.

Their story was one of love that led to tragedy; home that lived fitfully, and then, today, to death and despair.

The trial was perhaps the most sensational ever held in the state.

Hadley was being returned from a minor charge when Sheriff Giles was killed. Giles, the father of a large family, could not refuse the plea of Ida Hadley that she be permitted to accompany her husband, and he allowed her to do so.

SHOT SHERIFF.

As the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad train crossed the line between Muskogee and McIntosh counties the woman, mad with the thought that Paul might be taken from her, shot the sheriff, jerked the bell cord and as the train came to a stop, jumped, with her husband, from the car and plunged into a nearby thicket.

For twenty-four hours police from Muskogee and McIntosh counties searched the countryside. Finally the pair was arrested in McIntosh county.

They were tried here. She was acquitted, but the husband was found guilty and sentenced to life imprisonment.

Ida begged to accompany her husband to the penitentiary. Her pleas unavailing, she led an attempted jail break, was captured and sentenced to the penitentiary. Peace officers declared it was only a plan to obtain her entrance into the state prison. Her sentence was for ten years.

At the penitentiary, guards often found it necessary to lead her to her husband's cell and let her calm herself by talking to him.

Two years ago, Hadley, then a trusty, was released from the penitentiary to perfect an invention. He never returned. The first word from him came from Tucson, Ariz.

S. Estaver, he was on trial for the murder of Mrs. Anna Johnson, wife of a Denver contractor. J. Berry Peterson, an attorney of Tahlequah, recognized Hadley in the Arizona court room. Photographs were exchanged with prison officials at McAlester and Hadley was identified.

Oklahoma authorities were at Tucson when the trial ended, intending to bring Hadley back had he been acquitted.

Meantime Ida Hadley had been released. She went at once to Arizona, announcing her intention to appeal to T. E. Campbell, who was then governor, to commute the sentence of death passed on her husband.

Her plans, however, miscarried, and, according to Hadley, she is now in Wichita Falls, Tex. He said that he had dissuaded her from cause she was "temperamental and might do something that shouldn't be done."

FORT WORTH, Tex., April 13.—Breaking her recent attitude of seeming indifference toward her husband, Paul V. Hadley, executed at Florence, Ariz., today, Mrs. Ida Hadley said:

"I feel awfully bad about it all. I did all I could for Paul. God knows I have played square with him."

It was the first time that she displayed any emotion in discussing the case, according to friends.

Newcomers Are Welcome at Capwells

The Oakland Chamber of Commerce tells us that Oakland will add more than 30,000 people to her population during 1923 if last year's record is duplicated. A city the size of Alameda will be dumped into our midst in one year.

This means that every day brings newcomers to Oakland, to become active citizens. We wish to extend to all these strangers a hearty welcome, and to suggest that they make Capwells "their Store." All those who wish to open charge accounts are invited to call on our Credit Manager, who will offer every consideration possible. Again we say, "Welcome to Oakland, and to Capwells."

CLERK SHOT AND KILLED BY BANDIT

Policeman Risks His Life
In Capture of Murderer
About To Turn Weapon
On Second Victim In Store

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—Ernst Engdahl, 33 years old, a jewelry clerk, is dead today, the victim of a bandit's pistol, as a result of his attempt to prevent the gun man from robbing the San Francisco jewelry company's store, 754 Market street, where he was employed, late yesterday.

After a desperate battle with a policeman who heard the shot, the hold-up man, Antonio Smith, 19, was overpowered and is being held today in the city prison.

The murder and attempted robbery occurred about 8:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon in broad daylight, while the streets in the vicinity of the jewelry store were jammed with thousands of late shoppers and office employees.

Engdahl was killed almost instantly, dying before physicians from the Emergency hospital could reach him. An element of mystery surrounds the slaying and is being investigated today by detectives. Two bullet wounds were found in the clerk's body. One slug entered his chest, near the heart, and another penetrated his head. An examination, however, showed that only one cartridge in Smith's pistol had been discharged.

BLOW TELLS MURDERER.

After shooting and mortally wounding Engdahl, the bandit turned to make his escape from the store, pistol in hand. As he neared the door Traffic Officer J. J. Mahoney, who had heard the shot, rushed into the store, Smith threw his gun on the policeman, but before he could pull the trigger, Mahoney felled him with a blow from the butt of his own weapon.

Hundreds of people attracted by the sound of the shot, gathered around the store and it was only with great difficulty that police kept them from surging into the establishment. After Engdahl had been removed, officers worked over Smith and sent a call for an emergency ambulance. He recovered quickly.

WIFE CLOSE TO DEATH.

Engdahl's wife, who is seriously ill with heart disease at their home, 131 Bartlett street, collapsed when the news of her husband's murder was broken to her and fear was expressed today for her condition.

The bandit who claims to be 18 years old but appears to be nearer thirty, last night made a confession of his planned robbery and the slaying to detectives. He declared that he went to the store Wednesday with the intention of committing the robbery then, but was frightened away and decided to postpone the crime.

He carried two grips in which to carry his loot when he entered the store yesterday. In plain sight when he entered the store was jewelry worth more than $100,000, mostly in diamonds. One of the robber's grips contained a pair of pliers, a coil of wire and a printed sign which said "Closed."

Smith told detectives his plans was to drive the store's employees into the vault lock them in, hang up the "closed" sign, cut the telephone wires and loot the store at his leisure. He had taken careful notes on the store before yesterday and knew everything in it. He also had taken the precaution to put

Safe Blown by Yeggmen But No Loot Discovered

SAN LEANDRO, April 13.—Yeggmen early today blew open the safe in the office of K. M. Hyatt, coal and feed dealer, in Washington street, but found it empty of loot and were forced to flee.

Employees on opening the office this morning discovered evidence of the attempted robbery. The door had been blown from the vault, which contained nothing but books and papers. The safe had been wrapped in burlap sacks and nitro-glycerin used by the yeggmen, according to the police.

Finger prints found on the safe door have been photographed by officials to aid in identifying the cracksmen, who apparently entered the building through a rear window.

Two tracks in the sign so it could be hung up in a minute.

READY TO PLEAD GUILTY.

"I'll plead guilty," Smith said today. "My trial won't cost the county a cent."

"Don't you know those men would have smothered to death in that vault," Policeman Mahoney asked the robber at the city prison.

Smith answered calmly: "Oh, I intended after making the getaway to phone the police and say they were there."

Smith said he came from Fort Worth, Texas, and had just arrived in San Francisco. Officers doubt his story and are attempting to connect him up with a gang of holdup men.

Mahoney today told the following story of the robbery:

"My attention was arrested by the shot, and I immediately ran to the scene. When I got there Smith was stepping backward, and apparently leveling his gun on Goldwater. Realizing that to shoot would mean the loss of Goldwater, I struck at Smith with my revolver. I missed him and he turned his gun upon me, but before he could fire I felled him with a blow across the face. He arose and was grappling with me when Officer O'Connell rushed into the store. He was quickly handcuffed."

Automobile accidents during the past 24 hours are responsible for six persons suffering from injuries today.

Mrs. Rose Brown, 33, wife of a San Jose rancher, was seriously injured, and Miss Ruth Brown, 217 College avenue, Berkeley, and Mrs. S. Riddout of San Leandro were slightly hurt when the machine in which they were riding overturned at Regent and Webster streets, Berkeley, last night. Mrs. Brown is suffering from internal injuries, and the other victims sustained bruises and lacerations. All are sisters-in-law.

E. M. Cook, head of a private patrol service, is today suffering from a broken rib and cuts and bruises which he received in an accident last night at Lakeshore avenue and Hanover avenue, when Douglas Ebeby struck his machine. According to the police report, Ebeby attempted to pass behind Cook's automobile and a machine which was in front of him. Both machines were wrecked. Ebeby claims the headlights of the approaching machine blinded him. He was uninjured.

The police are trying to locate the motorists who ran down C. F. Caudem, 632 Walla Vista, and then failed to stop and render aid to the injured man. The accident occurred last night at Sixty-fourth street and San Pablo avenue. The injured man was taken to Fabiola hospital. Donald Miller, 3633 Grove street, was slightly injured when he was struck by an automobile while riding a bicycle.

11,600 School Children Of City Save $300,000

As a result of the thrift campaign among Oakland school children, more than $300,000 is now on deposit in Oakland banks to the credit of the children, according to a report just tendered to the school department.

There are 11,594 depositors in the school banks. Actual banks are now established in the high schools, while in the elementary schools there is the "classroom savings system." The bank at the Oakland high school has $158,854. Fremont has $315,759. Technical has $330,782.

The banking institution handling the school funds has issued the following report:

Parilla school has the highest number of children banking every week. Garfield, Lincoln and McClellan are the three schools with the largest number of children banking every week. Melrose Heights is the only school in which every child in the eighth grade owns a pass book.

Prince Was Easy Victim For Thief

PARIS, April 13.—Boulevardiers are relating with mirth a misfortune that befell Prince Louis of Monaco, during his visit here. The prince is known as an easy prey for beggars. A beautiful young pickpocket took advantage of this fact to approach him at his hotel. She told him a harrowing story of sickness and despair in her family. While she was talking she robbed him of his watch and $300. On her departure the prince gave her $250 more, not discovering for an hour that he had been robbed.

SYSTEM OF CITY JOURNALISM HELD PROVINCIAL

Oakland Merchants Urged to Adopt Daily Turn-over Merchandise Plan

Oakland must shake itself out of the cross-roads grocery store method of merchandising and become an "every-day" marketing city instead of a "bi-weekly" sales town. George C. Davis, representative of a cotton oil company of New Orleans and former Oakland business man, told the members of the National Business Club at a luncheon yesterday.

Because the city has got into the habit of selling on Wednesdays and Saturdays, a survival of the small town system, the people of the outlying districts come to Oakland to market on the two days and make advertisements for their stocks only on Tuesdays and Fridays in order to catch the trade on the following days and in instead of booming their stocks every day of the week with advertising means that would make every day sell 2 days in Oakland.

"Every day is a selling day in a big city," said Davis, if the merchants will advertise in the papers every day and change their window displays every day.

Oakland has the reputation among commercial travelers of being a town that sells twice a week, instead of one that has a steady, daily turnover in sales. The city could get away from the bi-weekly sales practice and the reputation that goes with it, if the merchants would go out after buyers and inform them through advertising that they can buy just as well and conveniently on Monday or Thursday as they can on Wednesday or Saturday."

Davis declared an opportunity to increase the area of the city by connecting up the outlying districts with adequate transportation was being overlooked. He said the people of the outlying districts would welcome any effort of the Oakland business men to establish closer relations between the cities.

L. A. CAMPAIGN WATERED.
The advertising campaign which the Oakland Chamber of Commerce is carrying on in Los Angeles is attracting a great deal of attention, said Davis, and it will result in bringing hundreds of new residents to Oakland. He said Los Angeles was unable to take care of the thousands of settlers that come there, and that the advertisements in the Los Angeles papers would direct a stream of tourists to Oakland within the next few months.

OAKLAND WOMAN LECTURES.

Wealthy Klanman Suicide, Is Verdict
CLARKSBURG, W. Va., April 12.—A special investigation into the mysterious death of Kent Wallace, W. Va., was dropped today when a coroner's inquest returned a verdict of suicide, after the body had been exhumed. The Ku Klux Klan organizations of Wallace and Clarksburg charged Ogden had been murdered by enemies of the Klan, which had been particularly active here in prosecuting a number of blackboard cases. Ogden was shot through the left breast with his own revolver on one of his oil properties a week ago.

If you see it in The TRIBUNE tell them so.

U. S. Investigates
"White Slave Ring"
SAN FRANCISCO, April 12.—Investigation to discover whether any San Francisco girls are among the thousands of women reported to have been lured to America for immoral purposes, was started today by Chief Egan of the Department of Justice. The investigation followed receipt of information from federal officials in Seattle, Wash., that a large number of American girls had been victims of a "white slave ring" operating in that city.

DENBY PREPARES TO TAKE COMMAND OF FLEET

Recommendations Ready on Secretary's Return From Panama Trip

WASHINGTON, April 13 (By the Associated Press).—Sweeping changes in the high command of the American navy are expected to follow Secretary Denby's return to-day from his visit to the fleet. Recommendations for the re-adjustment were on the secretary's desk when he reached the department.

It is understood the suggested changes included the following: Admiral Robert E. Coontz, now chief of naval operations, to command the combined fleets, succeeding Admiral Hilary P. Jones, who would go to the general board.

Admiral E. W. Eberly, commanding the battle fleet, to be chief of naval operations.

Commander of the battle fleet held for the present in abeyance, with Admiral S. N. Robinson, a member of the general board.

Why Suffer From Rheumatism? A California Man Asks This Question.

Stockton.—"Dr. Pierce's Anuria (anti-rheumatic) Tablets have given me relief from rheumatic pains in my joints and from sharp cutting pains in my back and limbs. At times I would be in such condition that I could not move. I was sitting, I could not arise; if standing, could not sit down. Any one who has suffered in this way will understand what I mean, and it is with the hope that someone who will suffer and wants relief may learn of my case and seek the same remedy, that I give this statement for publication. When I was a boy I lived in Buffalo, N. Y., and knew of Dr. Pierce's famous remedy."—Frank J. Maynard, Sr., 1765 S. Fulton St.

Since it is such a simple matter to step into a drug store and obtain Dr. Pierce's Anuria Tablets, anyone who earnestly desires to regain health and new life will waste no time in obtaining them. Send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., if you desire a trial package.

Little Bags of Candy Buy Their China Set

MAYBELLE WESTALL, VIOLET WEIR, VESTA STOUT, ARLINE BEHNEMER, MELBA EORTON, members of the cooking class in the Alameda high school prepare for a candy sale. From the proceeds of this sale the girls realized enough money to buy new dishes for use by the ALAMEDA HIGH SCHOOL COOKING CLASS.

SCHOOL'S EMPTY CHINA CUPBOARD FILLED BY GIRLS

Alameda High Cooking Class Holds Candy Sale to Purchase Dishes.

ALAMEDA, April 13.—Emulating Old Mother Hubbard, the girls in the cooking classes of the Alameda high school went to the china closet last week to look over the stock of dishes preparatory to issuing invitations for an elaborate course dinner to the faculty of the high school. The girls were desirous of demonstrating just how they had profited by the course in domestic science.

Alas, like Mother Hubbard, they found the china cupboard was decidedly bare. Search as they would the much used set of dishes had been sorely depleted and not enough remained on which to serve an elaborate meal.

Straightway the girls decided to turn their art to mercenary purposes and hold a candy sale, thereby raising enough money to purchase new dishes.

As a result of their planning the sale was held yesterday in the corridor of the school during the noon recess period. Sufficient money was realized to purchase all necessary crockery and the dinner is an assured fact, as pointed out by Miss Ethel Eckert, cooking instructor.

Still alarm—Ninety-second avenue and East street, street car controller box, damage small.

Burbank People to Give Entertainment

BURBANK DISTRICT, April 13.—Friday, the thirteenth, has no terrors for the people of this district, for they are going right ahead with plans for a big community entertainment here in the school auditorium tonight. Robert Louis Stevenson's famed book, "Kidnaped," and a two-reel Buster Keaton comedy, "The Scarecrow," will be shown. Other entertainment numbers are also promised.

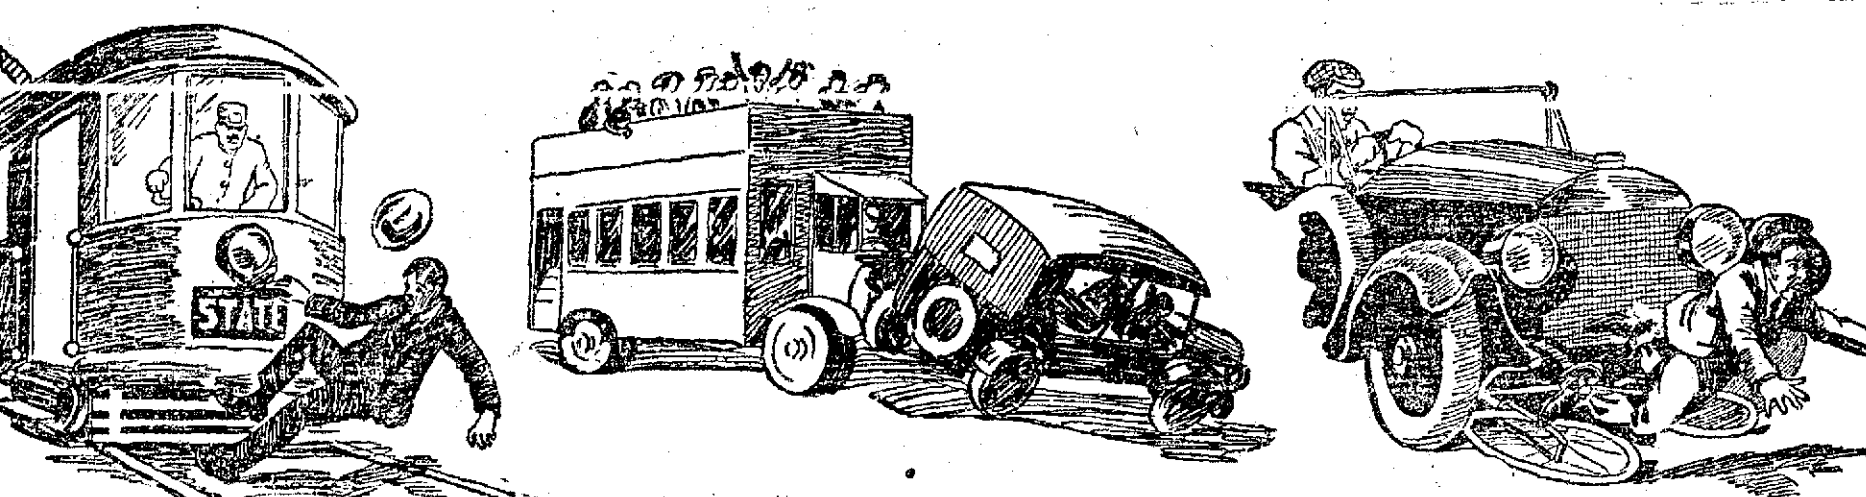

Reduce Those Dangerous Swollen Veins

Doctor's Recent Discovery Also Heals Boils, Carbuncles, Abscesses, and Open Sores in a Few Days.

Physicians are prescribing and hospitals are using a new and harmless yet very powerful remedy that not only causes enlarged or varicose veins and bunched to become normal, but also reduces boils, enlarged glands and veins. Ask any first class druggist for an original two-ounce bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil (full strength) and refuse to accept anything in its place. It is such a highly concentrated preparation that two ounces lasts a long time and furthermore if this wonderful discovery does not produce the results anticipated, you can have the price refunded.

It is not wise for anyone to allow swollen veins to keep on enlarging. Often they burst and cause weeks of pain, suffering and loss of employment. Start the Emerald Oil treatment as directions advise and improvement will begin at once. Your druggist can supply you.—Advertisement.

The Adventures of Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy

by Johnny Gruelle

Copyright by JOHNNY GRUELLE. All Rights Reserved.

I WISH that you could visit the wonderful magic amusement place where the kind Too ack quee took the Raggedys and Betsy Bonnet String on his birthday.

If you could just have looked into the gift shop where the Too ack quee took his friends and could have seen the wonderful toys the little Gnome lady had there to sell for passboard tickets, I'll bet you would hardly have known what to buy first.

The Too ack quee and his friends, Betsy Bonnet String and the two Raggedys, bought a lovely shiny red, magical bicycle apiece, because they wished to ride all around the place and see everything. And these magical shiny, red bicycles ran by themselves once you got upon them, and the Too ack quee and his friends did not have to work the pedals at all.

They rode down the sidewalk, lickety split, for they were the only visitors in the amusement place and they could ride the magical bicycles as fast as they wanted to without fear of running into anyone.

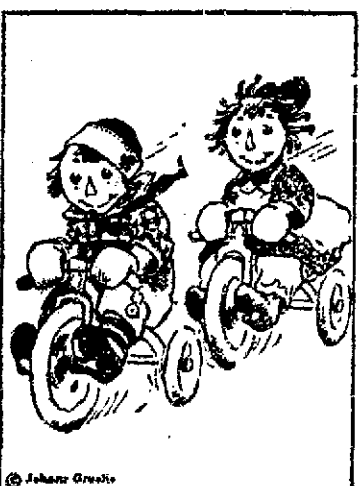

So, when they heard a lot of music down the street, they all rode the magical bicycles towards the place. And there, they found a merry-go-round all ready to start.

"Put your magical shiny, red bicycles over there," the man who ran the merry-go-round said, "and climb up, we are just about to start."

So the Too ack quee and Betsy Bonnet String and Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy left their magical bicycles and climbed upon the merry-go-round. Raggedy Ann sat upon a lovely brown deer; Raggedy Andy sat upon a great big yellow lion; Betsy Bonnet String sat upon a white polar bear and the Too ack quee sat upon a camel with two humps on his back.

Then when the music had collected the home made pastboard tickets from the Too ack quee he blew upon a little whistle and the music began playing and the merry-go-round started going around. Slowly at first, the faster and faster.

"Oh! this is the nicest merry-go-round I have ever rode upon!" Betsy Bonnet String laughed as the magical merry-go-round sailed around and around and finally rose in the air and went up so high, the wonderful amusement place looked like a little teeny weeny toy village.

Then, after awhile, the magical merry-go-round sailed slowly down to the ground again and settled right where it had started from.

"How did you like the ride?" the man who ran the merry-go-round asked.

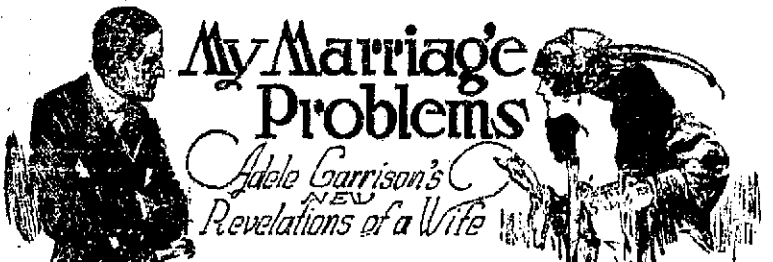

"Oh! It was lovely!" the Raggedys and the Too ack quee and Betsy Bonnet String replied.

"I think so too!" the man said. "That is why I like to work and take care of the merry-go-round."

"Everyone enjoys the ride so much, I often take rides even when I have to go alone! Now!" he said, "let's go over to the ice cream cone stand and I will buy you each an ice cream cone with the home made pastboard tickets the Too ack quee gave me!" And when the man had treated them to an ice cream cone apiece, the Too ack quee treated them to another. And when the lady who waited upon them found that it was the Too ack quee's birthday, she gave all the tickets back, so that they could buy all over again.

My Marriage Problems

Adelle Garrison's Revelations of a Wife

HOW LILLIAN PLANNED TO AID MARGE WITH MOTHER, GRAHAM.

My little lad's proposal to go to his grandmother and tell her he was sorry for his rudeness did not strike a particularly responsive chord in my little resentful consciousness.

If I had followed my primitive impulse I should have whispered to him the truth that it had been his grandmother, not her, who had made him cry. But I put my my bullion down firmly, and I consoled myself with the reflection that Junior's capitulation was a particularly lucky incident in view of the day before me.

For I knew that Lillian had counted upon Mother Graham taking her room and keeping them there while the rest of us staged the reception for the proposed bride and groom who called himself Smith. It was a reception which held a distinct element of danger, and it was pre-eminently necessary that the children should be kept out of the way.

"WHAT'S THE TROUBLE?" But with Mother Graham in the temper with which she had left my room, our plans were likely to be upset. That she was capable of leaving the house for a visit to one of her daughters, I knew, and would not have been surprised to learn that even now she was packing her trunk, a decision in which she frequently indulged.

"Doubt you didn't ask!" My small son's voice gave me an inspiration. I picked him up and began to take off his shirt and night suit.

"Well, get dressed first!" I told him, "and then we'll tell Marion. She will take you down to grandmother."

I had thrown Marion's name in as a stop-gap, although I knew Mother Graham was extremely fond of Lillian's whimsical daughter. But I knew that it would take more than Marion's charms and Junior's mother, I meant to get most of Lillian as soon as I could, for if any one could devise the means of making my mother-in-law tractable it was she.

Partly dressing Junior, I deposited him in his crib, telling him to put on his stockings, a most absorbing occupation in which he delighted. Then, throwing my bathrobe around me, I opened the door softly, slipped down the corridor to Lillian's room, and knocked lightly. She opened the door and immediately, and I saw with relief that both she and Marion were almost dressed.

"Praised be that your boat is nearly manned," I said, holding out my hand to her. "I'll be with you in half an hour, so that I could watch my own room door. The wireless is sounding the S. O. S. from mine."

"What's the trouble? Please come in the office!" Lillian asked with a little laugh. "I thought I heard stentorian tones a minute or two ago, and you look as if you were about to walk the plank."

A CARD LAD PLAN. "I have walked it," I returned, while Marion giggled appreciatively at my nonsense. "Behold me floundering in the water. And I rely upon your boat will be ready unless you have to and come to the rescue."

She hitched an imaginary belt and put her hand smartly to her forehead.

"Yes, sir. We will now leave no one to and to. Marion!" —with a complete change of tone —"these you run over and see what Junior is up to. Take your

ALONG THE AVENUE

"What's this?" asked Thornley, as they sat down to breakfast.

A RANK INSIDER

THORNLEY'S wife was still at her mother's up in New England. He had returned from the west earlier than expected and though he would not break up her visit by wiring her.

On the train to New Rochelle from New York Thornley found a number of friends, and at once projected a quiet poker game at his house for the evening. Two were looking when Abington strode along from the smoking compartment.

"You'll sit in, old man, of course," suggested Thornley, after explaining.

"Why, yes, I'd like to," was the reply, "but my wife's brother is visiting you, you know."

"Bring him along. A stranger's play tends piquancy to a game." And so it was settled.

Thornley went directly to the yacht club for dinner. Arriving home in good time he was admitted by a maid. Coming down from his room a little later he found a good-looking young Englishman in evening clothes.

"Beg pardon, sir," said the chap, "but I think I should introduce myself."

an apt remark. His deferential manner seemed to justify the movie. He played negatively until late in the evening, when Thornley began to get badly stung. Then Pinney's play picked up gradually, though his verbal fluency continued in sharp contrast to the usual sarcasm of the losers. When they stopped he had everything in sight.

"I wish I had such a genius in the family," remarked Thornley to Abington as the visitors were getting into their coats. Pinney helping here and there with scant responsive courtesy.

"Oh, we all lose now and then," was Abington's cheerful reply, "but my wife's brother is visiting you, you know."

Harmful Effects of Family

No Outside Enemy Could Be as Cruel as Those With Whom We Live—Who Balk Our Ambitions With the Best of Intentions

THE most tragic thing in life is that our foes are truly those of our own household, and the people who ruin our lives are those who are nearest and dearest to us and who love us best.

WHEN we try to visualize the enemy who will wreck our careers and bring disaster upon our heads, we always picture the dark and sinister villain or the blond siren of the fortune teller as the one who will be our undoing. In reality, a close-up of the miscreants who balk our ambitions and blast our hopes and take all the joy out of existence for us would almost always show a mother or father, or husband or wife, who have nothing but our good at heart, but who, with the best intentions in the world, do us more injury than the most fiendish malice could invent.

THE harm that any outsider can do us is small. If we are thrown with a stranger who is argumentative and disagreeable, or dull and stupid, we simply avoid him. If we encounter one who is selfish and dominating and tyrannical, we break off all relationship with him. If we find one who is tricky and not to be trusted, we pass by on the other side of the street. Moreover, we are on our guard against our enemies, and when we see that they are getting the best of us we can put more punch in our blows and fight back harder.

BUT we are helpless before our families. As a sheep is led to the slaughter, so are we delivered over to them as a living sacrifice. We cannot strike back at our fathers and mothers, no matter how much they oppress us. We cannot fight our husbands and wives unless we are willing to break up our homes and figure in the divorce courts.

A THOUSAND ties of affection and duty hold us in a silken mesh that we are powerless to break through. Pity for the weakness of age, pity for the prejudices, the narrowness, the lack of vision, that keeps the wreckage of our lives from knowing what a crime they are committing, breaks our sword and takes away our shield and buckler when we come to struggle with the dear enemies in our own homes.

There is not one of us but who can cite a hundred cases of men and women whose parents have doomed them to poverty and security, either because they wanted to keep their children with them or because, in their narrow ignorance, they saw bogies in the outside world of which they were afraid, and they felt that the only way they could keep their young ones safe was to keep them in the home nest.

I think now of a beautiful and brilliant woman to whom God gave a marvelous voice. Some rich people who heard her sing offered to send her abroad and have her trained for an opera singer. She would undoubtedly have ranked among the greatest artists of our time had she been permitted to accept the opportunity thus presented to her. But to her parents Paris and the stage were simply other names for perdition, and so they slammed the door of opportunity shut in her face. Today she is a poor, overworked drudge, doing her own cooking and washing and baby tending.

I think of another woman who in her girlhood fell in love with a brilliant and handsome young chap, full of energy and ambition. But he belonged to an humble family, and the girl's father and mother would not let her marry him because his blood was not as blue as theirs. Today the girl is seared and disappointed old maid, who has been governor of his state, and is now senator, rolls by her in his limousine.

I THINK of a dozen men I know who have been kept from fame and fortune in the work nature fitted them to do and forced into ungenial occupations where they have been failed by fathers who thought they had a right to decide their sons' careers for them.

I THINK of fathers who have bled their children unmercifully to pay their debts; of men who shift the burden of their families onto the young shoulders of their children, and I wonder if there is any other person on earth who can do their children such a deed of inhumanity as a father and mother can.

I think of husbands and wives I know who are doing the men and women to whom they are married to death, by a system of slow torture that would have done credit to the Spanish inquisition, and yet they dearly love those whom they daily and hourly torture.

I think of peevish, nagging women, who go into hysterics every time they are crossed; who take all the toil and devotion of their husbands for granted, and who whine and fret because they can't have everything that millionaires' wives have.

I think of women who can harp on the same grievance for a thousand years, and still be going strong at the end of that time, and whose husbands do not have as much liberty as a tame squirrel in a cage.

I think of heart-hungry wives whose husbands never say one tender or affectionate word to them. I think of women who spend their lives working and sacrificing for men who never give them one token of appreciation or thanks. I think of women who live in terror of their husbands' brutal temper, and who cringe like slaves when they have to ask for money to buy food for the family.

AND I wonder if there is any other foe so cruel as those of our own household, and I am sure that the malevolence of our enemies could be compared with that of our families and with our lives as can those with whom we live daily.

HAPPY those whose families are friends to them!

A Reforming Influence

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster

"ALL this talk about the stage not having an ennobling influence," remarked Arkansas Camp, as he leaned suggestively over the case of five-cent cigars "is what we of the profession used to call hokum."

"Yes?"

"I knew a man once, a man of family, a stalwart soul with a besetting sin, who was cured of his vice, and by no other agency than a conscientious and resolute actor." Arkansas Camp paused and moved slowly up the counter toward the ten-cent case. It was an effective move, for the clerk responded at once, checking its progress before the nickel precincts had been vacated. Arkansas Camp drew deep upon a pungent weed and continued:

"The actor, I may as well admit, was myself. We were playing stock in the country days of the Liberty Theatre, and in the days before the people put the damper on the wets. It was my custom between acts to stroll out of the stage door and into a neighborhood place where beverages were dispensed. There I saw a section of life and experience that was invaluable to a man whose business was interpreting human roles. I was a figure at the bar, an ornament, if you please."

"But this man I am telling you about, his name was Watts. Rollo Y. Watts, a short dumpling of a man with the face of a Buddha and a heart as large as his waistcoat. I had known him for years. I knew his children and I knew his sad story. Rollo Y. Watts was one of those men for whom the country went dry. It was his boast that he knew when he had enough, but it had never been his practice to show that he acted upon his knowledge."

"A man who had once been a successful salesman, he began to stagger upon the thin line which marks the falling off place. His friends were worried. I gave him my advice. He heeded it and was a gleaming smile."

"Watts was a man who believed that most of the wisdom of the world was possessed by bartenders. He was a man who was a bum joke when told by a white apron, and remain unresponsive when a professional vaudevillean did his best. You may see he was down and waiting for the out. Something had to be done, and if I may say it, the stage, American drama personified by myself, was equal to the emergency."

Arkansas Camp had worked himself naturally to the ten-cent counter. He tossed aside a ragged stump and waited his dues, which were forthcoming.

"It was late one night when Watts rolled into the saloon next to the theatre, walked on the balls of his feet, his hands extended and moving gently like a couple of butter pads. He was worried, I heard afterwards, worried because of the strange things he had encountered in the street."

"I demand to know," he piped shrilly at Jim, the bartender, "why it is that every lamp-post on the street tonight has a glass confining a red-eyed cat."

"Jim reached under the bar for the bottle for such cases, and acted the physician. 'Now you toddle home,' says Jim, 'and if you want to keep them cats on their posts you can bark as you go along.'"

"But Watts would not go. He was scared, he admitted, of the reptiles which hung from the trolley wires. No, I'm not making fun of the man, I'm telling you of his deplorable condition."

"It was at this time I slipped in the back door and edged up to the far end of the bar. Rollo was weeping and wailing he was going to smash every lamp-post in town. Then he saw me."

"You may believe it or not, gentlemen, but those 200 pounds of mauling humanity quivered and became solid. A pink face became white, his jaw dropped. Then he let out one yell, which I will hear until my last breath, broke through the swinging door and entered our home as if a thousand cats and reptiles were at his heels. He never took another drink, and he was a successful salesman again. It was all due to the American drama."

"There were others there who were visibly impressed, so much so that Jim instructed me never to come back. I may add the costume I wore, as I slipped out to beat the closing time, was that of Mephisto. We had been playing 'Faust.'"

JUBILEE'S PARDNER

by Judd Mortimer Lewis

Illustrations by Edwin

I am glad today was Friday, because tomorrow is Saturday and a fellow almost always can do something on Saturday when there is not any school to take up his time.

It was raining when I let Jubilee down by the rope in his teeth, but it was not a cold rain, and it had stopped by the time I got out in the yard to go to the stable. Jubilee was running around and had got his legs and stomach all mud and he stood at the stable door with his tongue hanging out and grinning at me when I got there with the pail.

I bet he was wondering if I would go to school on a day when we could have so much fun. I bet it is a nice day and I go to school he thinks I am not so very brave. Anyhow he went all the way to school with the bunch and their dogs and then when we got out in the dogs went with me together. And I bet Jubilee was bragging to them about me and probly they bragged about the fellow that own them, because when we got out their all looked like they had been in a fight. Jubilee had had one ear hurt and he was looking like he was proud and not afraid of any one.

We all went down to the raven and across the dam where the pond was before we let it out and over to the railroad. There was a big pile of railroad ties that had been cut off of the cars, and we started to put all of the pies on top of each other like a clothespin house which would have made them as high as our house. But they were afraid heavy and when we got them up as high as our higher. Then, when we were wondering how to fix them, someone hollered and there came a handcar with a lot of men on it so we skunk out.

We did not go across the dam, but right straight across the creek and up the hill and part of almost the mud by the creek was almost up to our knees. So we went around in the alley and into the Lost Bag of Triple's barn which is not used for anything and made as a fire in the middle of it.

It has not got a floor so it would be a good place to make a fire.

That did not get in our eyes went upstairs and we were holding up our stockings to dry when we heard a fire engine coming and we all pulled out the cars, and we could go to the fire and right when we flung the door open we met a lot of firemen with axes and a hose. Then we knew they thought the barn was afire and we skunk out over the fence in every direction and all of us got away and factory.

Me and Jubilee was kinda scared to go home to milk the dummed brutes, but when we got there my father had not heard about it and I was glad of it. Because he would have blamed me for it probly. A boy who is as smart as I am, and

STANFORD—CALIFORNIA FRESHMAN TRACK MEET TOMORROW

CARDINAL, BRUINS READY TO CLASH IN SECOND RAIL GAME OF THE SERIES AT PALO ALTO

STANFORD FRESHMEN HOPEFUL OF WINNING 'ANNUAL TRACK MEET

Bill Kerr, Bill Richardson and Louis Gaspar Form
Nucleus of Strongest First Year Team
On Farm in Many Years

By TOM IRWIN.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, April 13.—Stanford Babe meets Bruin Cub in the annual Big-Little meet tomorrow on Stanford oval to act out once more the old, old play—a play centered about a few Stanford stars fighting for first place against a well-balanced California squad—and a play which has always assumed just before the climax a decided Blue and Gold tinge. The Stanford freshmen have never won from California on the cinder path. True, they have on several occasions come close, but the percentage of a large and more perfectly balanced personnel for California has turned the Cards' face down. Tomorrow, for a change, it looks as if the best chance in Stanford-California freshmen track history for a Stanford victory has been entered on fortune's books. Card rooters point out Coach Dink Templeton as the reason.

Around Bill Kerr, interscholastic mile champion, and Bill Richardson, successor to Eddie Boyden of California as interscholastic half-mile champion, Templeton has built a freshman squad whose average times have not been equaled since the beginning of the track at Stanford as a freshman sport. To Kerr and Richardson, Templeton has added Gaspar and Miller in the sprints; Clifford, Cypher and Pastorius in the middle distances; Boles in the hurdles, and Boone in the weights, all of whom are capable of first places in their respective events.

Richardson vs. Boyden Feature.
The big event of the day will undoubtedly be between Boyden of California and Richardson, captain of the Card fresh, in the 880. When Boyden won the half-mile in the interscholastic two years ago, he was considered the greatest of the new generation of track sprinters. He retained this reputation until Bill Richardson went to Chicago last year and ran away from the field in the same event. Since that time, Richardson has been steadily improving his times in practice meets. He has twice this season run his race in 1:58.3 with breath and strength to spare. Boyden has not been forced all season, but he has not approached by three seconds this record in any of California's preliminary meets. Perhaps he has been holding back for the race that counts, but if he beats Richardson, a Stanford-California freshman record will be so completely wrecked that it will never see the light of day again.

Another record is likely to tumble from its insecure pedestal when Bill Kerr of Stanford and Orme of California fight out the mile run. Kerr is credited with the fastest time in this event and has a reputation to uphold, but Orme has been rapidly improving since the first of the season and may scatter the dops to the four winds by taking the race. As in Boyden's case, if he succeeds in his attempt, he will have to hang up a new freshman record. Clifford and Pastorius of Stanford seem to have the edge on the California entries other than Orme.

Hawaiian Sprint
Star Looks Good.
Louis Gaspar, who hails from Hawaii, and who shoulders the responsibility of a 10 flat record in the hundred in addition to a 22:1 in the 270, seems to have a slight advantage over Barber, Blume and Cole of California. Miller of Stanford has been winning from Gaspar in the 220 in fast time and may be able to take a first in this event tomorrow. As in the varsity meet, the results of the longer sprint are more than problematical.

Boles of Stanford, on the basis of practice season times should

Bear Tennis Squad Faces Card Quartet

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, April 13.—California and Stanford tennis teams meet tomorrow morning at 9:30 at Stanford in their annual intercollegiate matches. From all indications Stanford is due for a drubbing. California is represented this season by one of the strongest tennis squads in years. Bates will be playing his last matches against Stanford and should annex two victories. Phil Bettens will also engage in both doubles and singles matches. Brick Conrad, veteran of the past two seasons, will be entered against Stanford.

"Jerry" Stratford, Ivy Weinstein, Carol Jensen, and Mort Coombs will also be entered against Stanford. Bates and Bettens constitute one of the strongest collegiate doubles combinations in the country, and with Conrad and Stratford playing their usual good game in the second string doubles, should annex both victories.

Four of the men who are to meet Stanford Saturday will be sent east this summer to take part in intercollegiate tennis matches with eastern universities and the meet will furnish an indicator of California's strength.

Stockton to Meet Fresno Tonight
STOCKTON, Cal., April 13.—A game so close that the "breaks" may be the deciding factor is looked for by the coaches of both teams when Fresno and Stockton High schools clash here tonight for the state high school basketball championship.

Stockton will appear in the role of defending its crown which was won at Alhambra last year. Fresno comes with a clean slate for the season, including a decisive win over Huntington Park High school, champions of the Far South.

Following are the lineups announced:

Zbyszko Injured In Wrestling Bout

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 13.—John Pesek of Nebraska defeated Stanislaus Zbyszko, former heavyweight champion in a wrestling match here last night. Pesek obtained two falls, the first at the end of one hour of wrestling and the second almost as soon as he entered the ring. It was understood that the winner of the match would meet "Strangler" Lewis, heavyweight champion.

Scott, Shortstop For Yanks. Hurts Ankle

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., April 13.—Everett Scott, star New York Yankee shortstop, was carried from the field here when he sprained his ankle in an exhibition game with Brooklyn. Physicians tonight expressed belief, however, that Scott would be back in the lineup for the opening of the season in New York next Wednesday.

The Yankee shortstop lacks but fourteen games of playing his thousandth consecutive major league contest.

California Meets Cards At Palo Alto

Cross Bats in Second Game of Year.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, April 13.—With one victory to their credit the California Varsity baseballers will meet Stanford tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 at Stanford in the second game of the three game series. Coach Zamlock expects his men to register another victory against Stanford as he has developed one of the strongest hitting aggregations this season in many years.

The batteries for the game have

Seattle Billiard Champ Keeps Title
SEATTLE, April 13.—Walter Johnson, Seattle, retained his title of northwest three cushion billiard champion when he finished here tonight by a score of 150 to 146, two blocks with Henry Solomon, Olympic champion.

Solomon won this evening's block 59 to 50, and once was only two points from tying the score for the 150 points.

not been announced, however, Zarnlock's pitching staff will probably be either Kelly Toomey, Minty, or Bailey. All of these men are in good condition and are able to go the full distance when called upon.

Dutch Thompson will be behind the plate, Refnie will hold down first, Bill will be on second, either Cleary or King at short, and Gerlach will be at third. This combination proved the ruination of Stanford in the first game of the series by their hard-hitting and clever fielding.

Garden City Wheelmen Out To Set Record

SAN JOSE, April 13.—Clyde Arbuckle and Charles Bolter representing the Garden City Wheelmen, will attempt to smash all records for bicycle time between San Francisco and Los Angeles when they leave Twelfth and Market streets in San Francisco at 12:30 a. m. next Sunday. The local cyclists will take the ferry to Oakland and will start riding as soon as they leave the boat. Fresno will be their first stop, barring accident.

This ride is to be strictly un-paced. The best time so far between San Francisco and Los Angeles was 23 hours, this record being hung up by Earl Thompson of Los Angeles in 1915. Arbuckle rode from Los Angeles to San Jose on March 17, 1921, in the record time of 23 hours and 50 minutes, pacing behind automobiles for long distances.

California Cubs Favored to Win

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, April 13.—California freshman baseballers are favorites over Stanford freshmen to win the second game of the series to be played tomorrow morning at 10:30 at Stanford. Coach Nine Price has developed a strong all around squad this season and expects his men to route the Cardinals. Jim Nounan, who pitched the first-year men to a 5 to 0 victory last Saturday, may start the second game. Nounan pitched one of the best games of the season, allowing Stanford but one hit in the entire nine innings.

There is a possibility that Coach Price will start either McEncaney or Stark on the mound. Captain Lloyd will be behind the bat; Lenahan or Palmer will be on the initial sack; Morse will be on second; Cravico on short, and Tail will hold down the third sack.

Vancouver, B. C., Bowlers Lead In Tournament

BELLINGHAM, Wash., April 13.—The Vancouver (B. C.) Specials with 2843 last night took first place for five man teams in the Northwest International Bowling Congress, which opened here Monday evening and is to close Saturday night. Second place was gained last evening by the Good Eats Cafe, Vancouver, B. C., with 2640. The highest previous tally at this tournament had been made by the Diehl Motor Company, Bellingham. The highest individual score of the tournament was made this evening by McNea of the Elks Lodge No. 3 team, New Westminster, B. C., 251. The highest previous individual tally for the tournament was that of Welsh, Bellingham, 247.

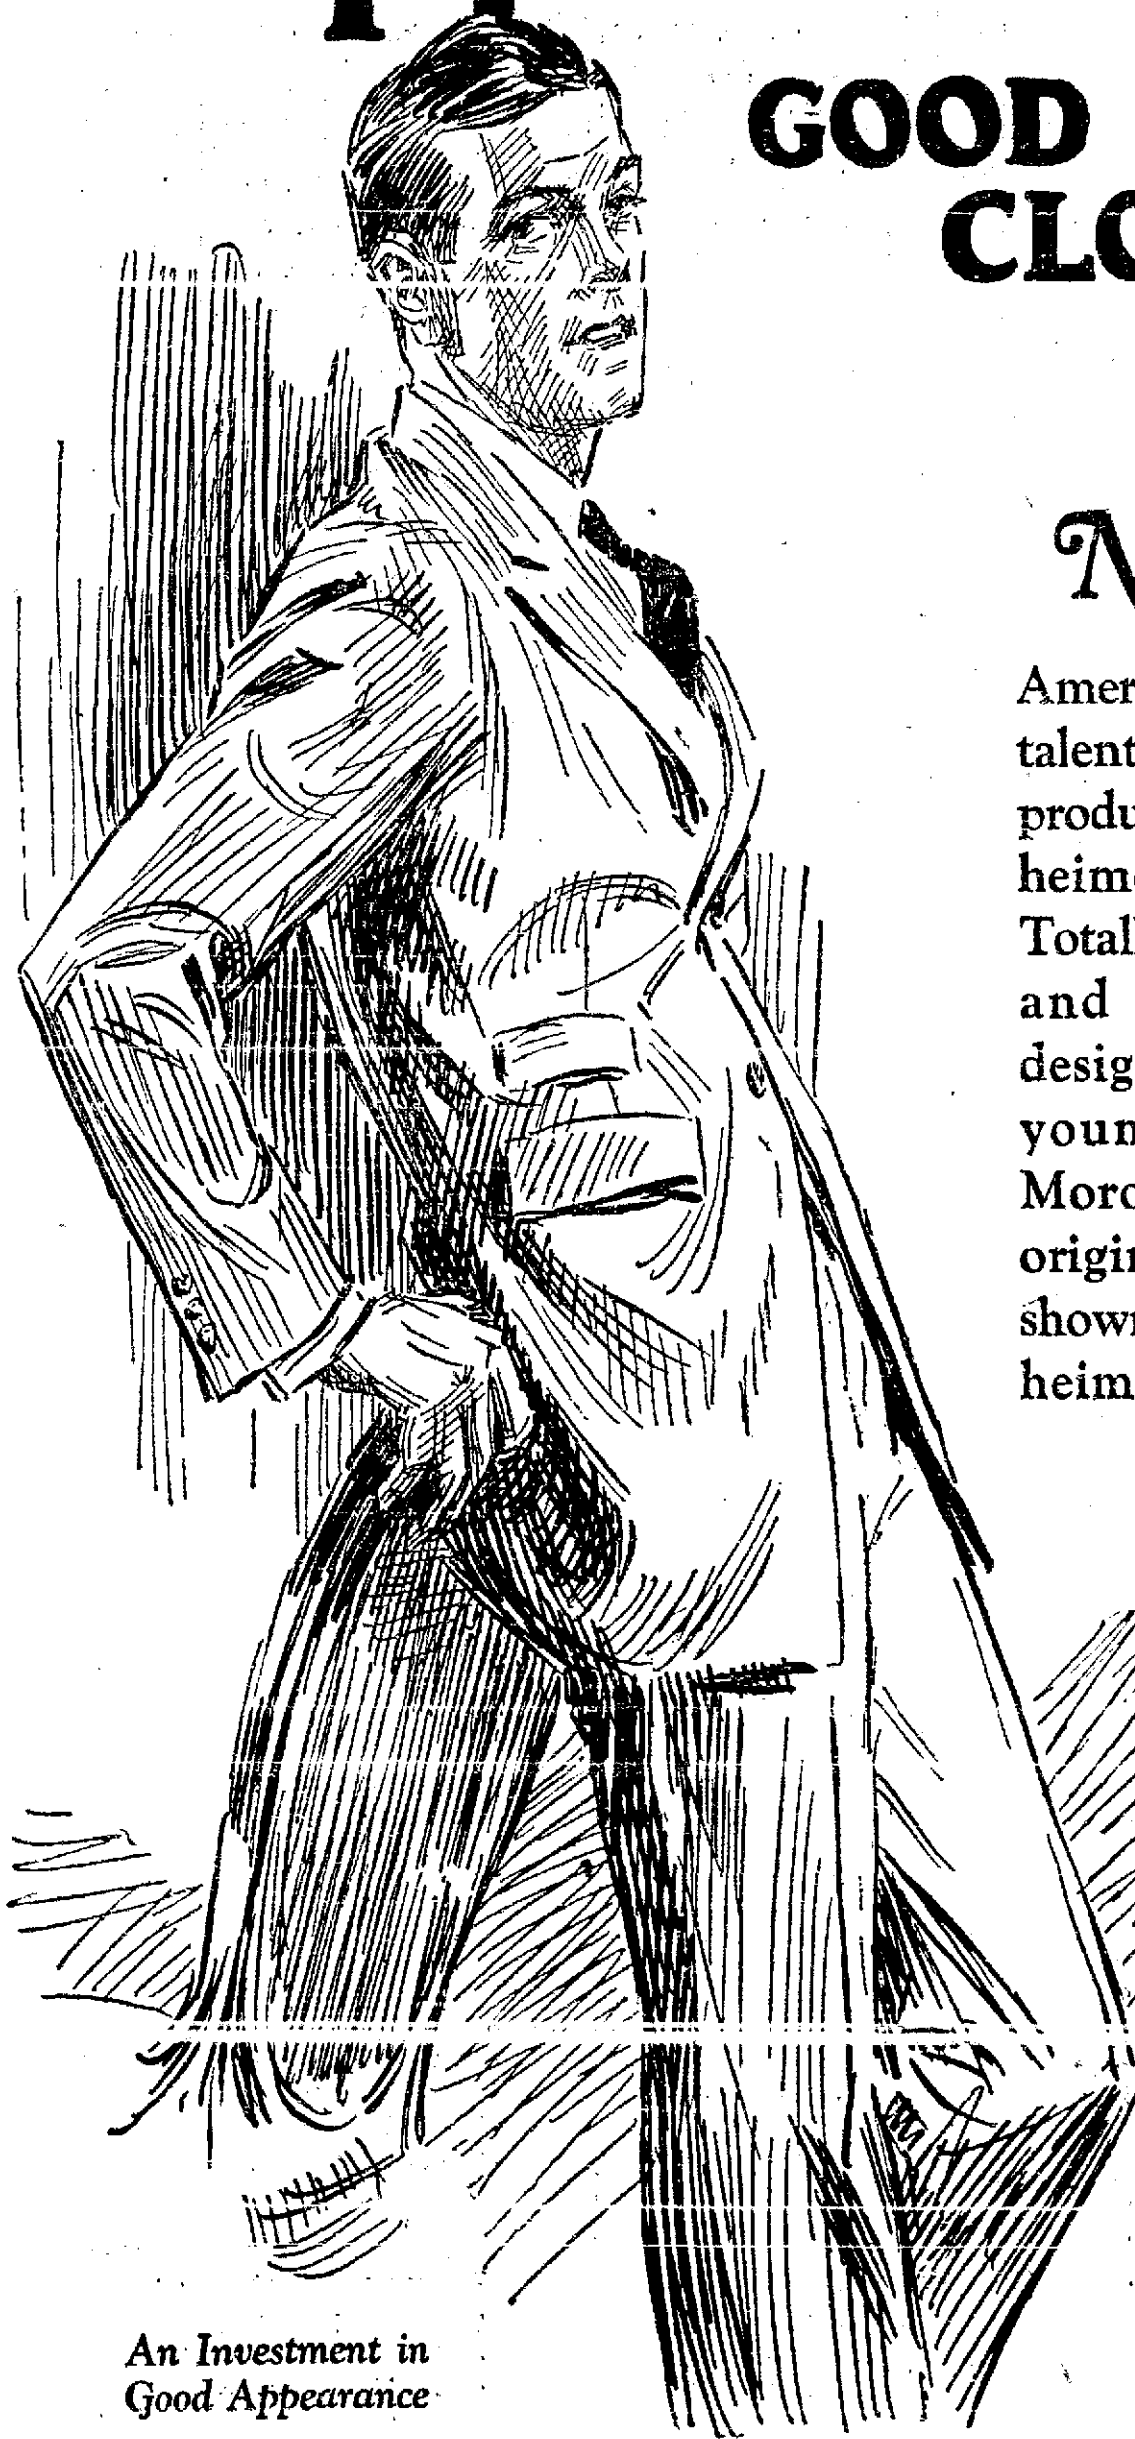

The first daylight bowling of the tournament will be tomorrow.

SEALS AGAIN TAKE LEAD IN SERIES WITH THE OAKS

IVAN HOWARD IS MAKING GOOD USE OF ROOKIE HURLERS BY HAVING THEM FINISH GAMES

YOUNG HURLERS SHOW SEAL SLUGGERS SOME NICE HILLTOP WORK

By EDDIE MURPHY.

Manager Ivan Howard of the Oaks is grooming his young hurlers, Lyle Wells and George Murchio, to take regular turns on the pitching mound in the near future. The three games in which the Oaks met the Seals this week saw Wells or Murchio finish up. Murchio pitched the last three innings of the opening game, and the last couple yesterday, and the only run made off him was in the eighth inning of yesterday's game when Bert Ellison's long fly got away from Denny Wille and went for a two-bagger, and Yelle came through with a hit later on. Wells pitched the last two frames of the Wednesday game and got credit for the win. The pair of youngsters look like they might be able to take their regular turns on the hill in the near future. Murchio looks to be the better of the two, as he is the coolest in the box and has almost perfect control.

A pair of rookie hurlers holding a slugging team like the Seals to one run in a total of seven innings are due credit for their work. The fans have yelled in the past that the Oakland owners do not give the rookies the right kind of a chance, but Manager Ivan Howard is certainly trying to please them in that respect this season. And still some of them will howl because Ivan is using the rookies. No matter what a manager will do, he is bound to hit the wrong spot with some fan or fans.

Will Look Better With Mails and Arlett Right

By finishing up three games with Wells and Murchio, Manager Howard was able to save his seasoned hurlers to start games with. He would be all up in the air about selecting his hurlers to start the game if he had to call any of them to finish up any one of these three games. The Oaks have the good as well as any of the veterans could for using the kids in shouting a bit too soon. If Murchio and Wells can continue to pitch the same brand of ball as they have thus far this week they will be entitled to chances to start ball games.

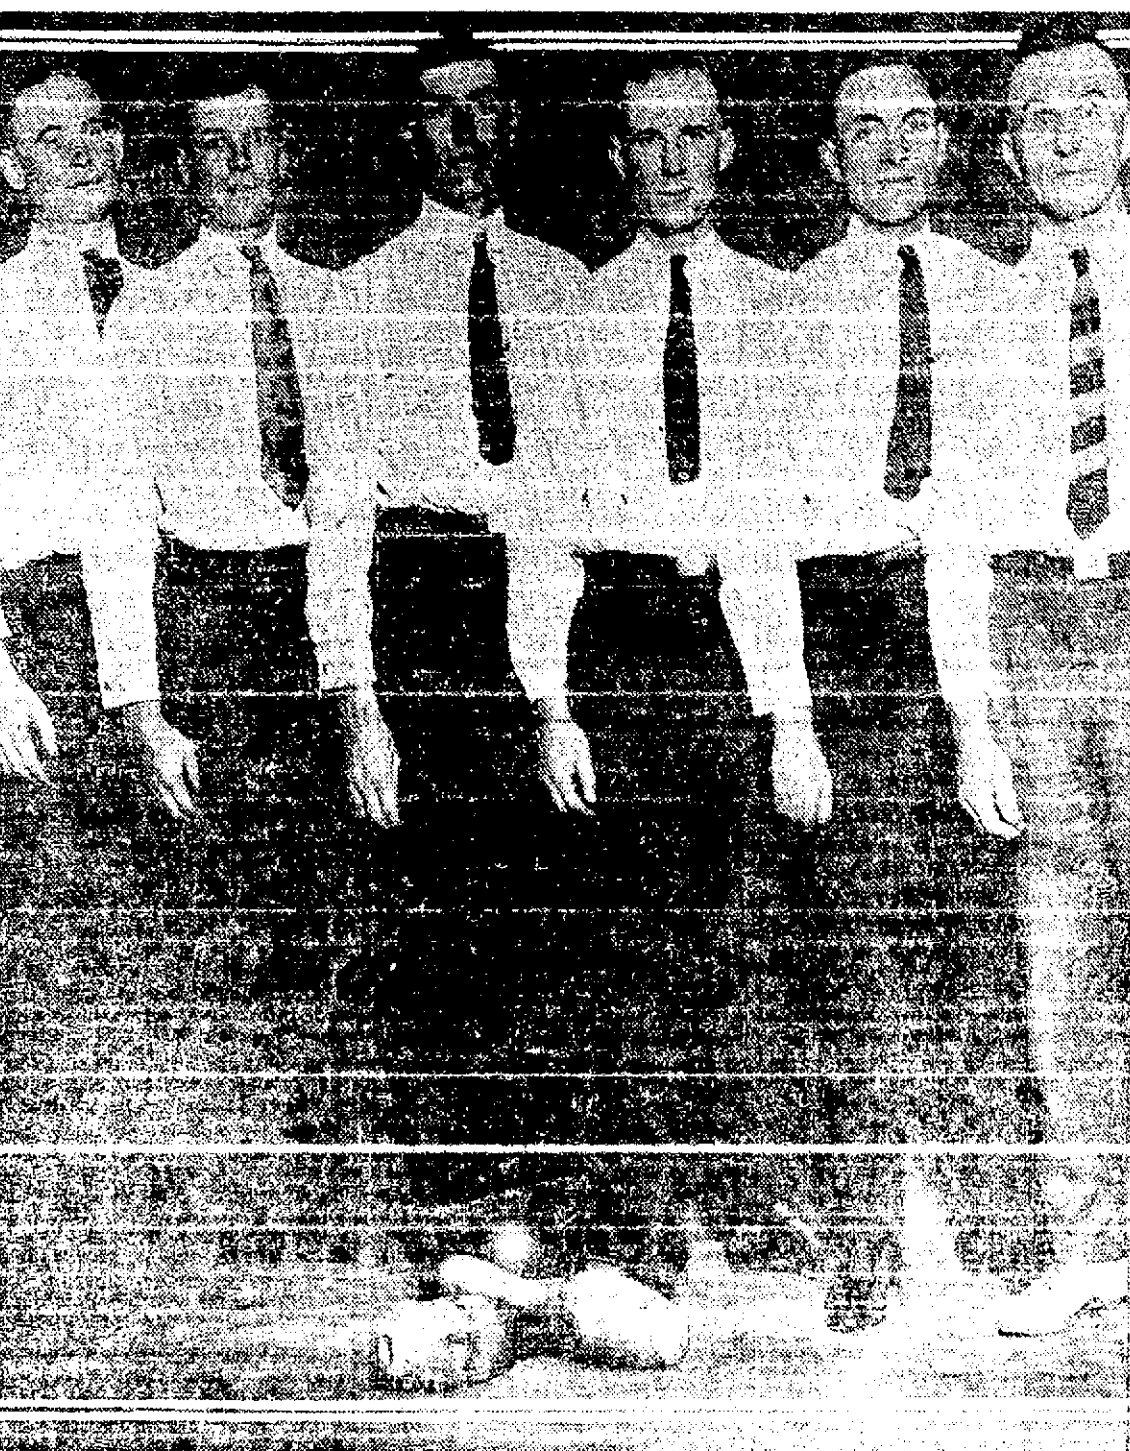

The Oakland pitching staff is somewhat shot, with Mails still working into shape, and Buz Arlett suffering with a slight soreness in his pitching arm. Walter Mails said yesterday that he hoped to be able to work at least a few innings against the Seals this week. By that Mails means that he will finish up the last few innings of one of the games, if Howard will permit him to. Buz Arlett's arm is nothing much to worry about, but just the same it handicaps Howard a little. Harry Krause and Ray Kremer, and the games which they pitched last week and this are proof of that. When Arlett and Mails get ready to take their regular turns, the Oaks will look a whole lot stronger.

Might Keep Eyes Open For Good Right Hander.

The defeat of the Oaks yesterday afternoon was not discouraged Ivan Howard in the least, and he holds out high hope of taking the series from the Sealer this afternoon, and with the right kind of support from his teammates, Kremer ought to go big against the Seals, no matter what hurler

Wrecking Crew Who Won Class C Championship

All Hail to Charlie Pugh's Vesta Batteries, champions of Class C in the San Francisco and Suburban Bowling League. This is the second Oakland team to bring home the Class C honors in as many years. The local alley kings set a pace impossible to beat and copped honors right and left. The Suburban champions, shown as they lined up for their final match are (left to right): AL CHERRY, CARL DELEN, ED HARDING, C. H. "SPARK-PLUG" NICHOLS, JOHNNY "CARAMBA" ROSSI and CAPTAIN CHARLIE PUGH.

Kamm Makes White Sox Infield Strong

CHICAGO, April 13.—In three days the Chicago Americans' first infield, composed of Willie Kamm at third, Collins, the veteran at second base, Shelly, first base, and Ernie Johnson, shortstop, has produced an even dozen double plays against the New York Nationals in their exhibition baseball games. Five double plays were made yesterday by the White Sox infield when Chicago won from the Giants at Johnson Field, Tenn., 8 to 7.

SEEN FROM PRESS BOX Knight and Wille in Freak Double Play of Which Pete Compton, Seals, is Made Goat

It hurt to see LaFayette drop that ball and then have the Seals take advantage of the mull by adding a trio of base hits off Colwell and making three runs which beat the Oaks.

Jack Knight looked like the Knight of old and handled twelve chances around second base without making a bubble.

"Red" Smith was in the game and handled eight chances at short without a boot. The little shortstop is following the advice of his teammates by holding his bat high while at the plate. He is meeting the ball better now.

Denny Wille cut loose a fine peg for the plate in the seventh inning when Compton hit to his left, but the ball lopped high and failed to make a game attempt to tag Wille out. It looked from the stand like a tie for Becker to give a decision on and he ruled in favor of the runner, and the score was tied.

Looked like Denny Wille had time to get under Ellison's drive and get two hands on it, but Denny did not make the grade and his attempt to spear the ball with one hand was unsuccessful, and the Seal got a double.

Gene Valla was again in the field limelight and robbed Ted Cather of a triple by snaring his long drive close to the center field fence.

Pete Compton is the big star of the Seals. His hitting this week against the Oaks has been hard and timely, and his fielding is up to the Coast League standard. In the three games he has secured ten hits in sixteen times at bat off the Oakland pitchers.

Continuing the four hits yesterday and two on his last couple of trips to the plate Wednesday, Compton had six safe hits in a row and was after a seventh when he went to the bat in the ninth. Knight made a nice play on Compton's mean hop to keep him from the seventh hit.

In the first inning Cather was on first with two out when LaFayette hit to Walsh and the Seal fumbled. Walsh recovered the ball and shot it to Kilduff, and Cather tagged himself out by going into the bag standing up. The throw was bad and a slide would have put Cather safe.

"Doc" Walsh came within a foot of collecting a box of rocks from the fans when he fumbled the ball. He was hit by a ball that was left field foul line, and Walsh hit the fence just a foot outside of the line.

Walsh bobbed the first three balls that were hit to him by Oaks, but he should prove a better man at third than Knopser, as he knows what it is all about and does not get rattled when he makes a bubble.

Jack Knight started a freak double play in the fifth inning with Compton on first. Rhyme popped to Knight, who got the ball back to first base and Knight tossed the ball to Wille, who was running in from the outfield, and Wille threw it to LaFayette at first before Compton could get back. Knight saved the trouble of turning toward first and

The Oaks and Seals will play their fifth game on the local diamond tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

LaFayette's Error Helps Seals to Win

Courtney Hurls Fine Ball While Colwell Had Two Bad Frames

Jack Miller's San Francisco Seals took a two to one lead in their series with the Oaks by defeating the locals 3 to 2 in a fifty ball game at the Emeryville orchard yesterday afternoon. A couple of bad innings for Ira Colwell who started on the hill for the Oaks, and an error by George LaFayette which opened a three run rally, proved the undoing of the Oaks.

Harry Courtney decorated the hill for the Seals and pitched good ball all through the game, and got an earned run was made off him. Colwell's troubles started in the first inning when Compton started off with a single and moved to third on Valla's double to center. Jack Knight made a nice play in handling Rhyme's line and doubling Valla out on a throw to Smith.

But Hendryx came through with a single, the third hit off Colwell, and Compton scored. Walsh, Valla and Compton got hits for the Seals in the second, but there was no scoring. Colwell took Rhyme's boundary throw to first for the third out, and the Oaks broke into the run column with two in the fourth. One was out when Knight was safe on Walsh's fumble and wild throw.

Compton put Jack on third with a double, and Knight scored on Baker's single. Compton came in on Smith's leaded out. It looked like Smith would get credit for a hit, but Rhyme made a nice play on the ball.

With Colwell settled down and pitching good ball, it looked like the Oaks would hold the lead to the finish, but the seventh saw the break in luck. Yelle hit to Kilduff, who threw to first, and Courtney's beat put Yelle on second, and Pete Compton scored him by getting his fourth single of the game, and sixth hit in a row, as he got on his last two trips to the plate Wednesday. Compton went to second on the play to the plate, and scored on Valla's single. Valla stole second and scored on Hendryx's hit.

Smith and Wille got hits for the Oaks in the seventh, but Bruce Baker hit into a double play. In the eighth with Wells pitching for the Oaks, Ellison got a double when Wille tried to spear his long drive with one hand, and he scored later when Yelle singled. Wille two out in the eighth, Knight got a hit and went to third when Ted Rhyme "brow" wild to first. He trotted home when Courtney cut loose a wild

Bruin Baseballers Will Tour Hawaii

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, April 12.—California varsity baseballers will leave Berkeley in the early part of May to tour the Hawaiian Islands and will compete with the strongest college nines on the island. The trip will extend over a period of two months, and should furnish a world of experience to the men making the journey.

Permission to make the trip was granted by the executive committee on receipt of an invitation from Hawaiian promoters. The Stanford University team and the University of California team were successful in most of their contests.

Johnston to Enter English Tennis Tourney

William M. Johnston, who ranks second in tennis in the United States, will depart for Europe within two weeks to play in the championships of France and England. Johnston was national champion in 1915 and 1919. Dr. Sumner Hardy, president of the California Lawn Tennis association, made the announcement last night that Johnston would campaign in Europe.

Johnston will compete at St. Cloud, near Paris, for the hard court championship, and then will go to England to play for the world's grass court championship. This is the last year that the play at Wimbledon will carry the title of world's championship.

Because of Johnston's absence from California in May, the East-West matches will not be played until the latter part of September and it was announced that William T. Tilden will not be here this spring, as he had contemplated. Johnston will be accompanied by a number of the Davis Cup team.

Johnston is a member of the United States tennis team which will play in the Davis Cup team, August 31, and in the national singles championship later.

With one out in the Oaks' half, Welle went to bat for Smith and walked, but Arlett, batting for Wells, hit to Walsh who turned it into a double play via Rhyme and Ellison. The score:

Local Vesta Battery Team Wins Class C

Johnny Rossi Leads S. F. and Suburban Rollers in Averages.

For the second time in as many years Oakland claims a championship bowling team in the Class C San Francisco and Suburban League. The Vesta batteries, led by Captain Charlie Pugh, walked to a win in the Class C race this year, finishing head and shoulders above their nearest rival.

The record of the Vesta is unique, fully half the members of the league going to this team, the only Oakland entry in Class C and the only local team in the San Francisco and Suburban League in any class to win.

The team averages 833 for the season and the other members of the team, Captain Charles Pugh, Eddie Harding and Carl Delen, were all up in the individual averages. The final check showed that the local boys had knocked down a total of 32539 pins for their season.

Johnny Rossi, who joined as a Class "B" bowler, hit high game for the league with 287 and his series of 670 stood against the best efforts of the men on all teams.

In their final series of the season the Vesta's trounced the Mills Boosters, taking two games and total pins at the Bowling Center alley.

Nichols led the team with 542, and the only 200 score made by the local team, while Denholm of the Mills team was high man of the evening.

WASHINGTON CREW LOOKED GOOD IN FIRST WORKOUT HELD ON THE ESTUARY YESTERDAY

Huskies Hold Practice on Local Waters

Washington-California Race To Be Held Down Estuary On April 21

By DOUG MONTELL.
Washington's Huskies held away yesterday afternoon on the Oakland Estuary, challenging the right of way with ferryboats and defying a brisk wind that made the waters of the local training waters of the California crewmen a bit too choppy for an ideal workout. But Washington, accustomed to water of the same sort on Lake Washington, sailed forth on schedule on the least bit daunted by the show of wind and wave.

LOOK TO BE HEAVIER.
The visiting oarsmen appear to be a heavier and taller set of athletes than the members of the California crew. Added to this the years of experience show in their work. Every movement is as one, each stroke even, together, and each pull on the oars sending the frail shell dancing over the ripples as though directed by some hidden power.

If California expects to redeem its defeat of last year on Lake Washington the Blue and Gold boat will skim the surface of the Estuary as fast as it can. The point of the race is to win the trophy of the Washington-California race of 1922, which was won by the Washington crew.

For Washington is here on a bit of business, to steal the words of last year's California captain, Dan McArthur, and the Blue and Gold athletes appear confident of their ability to outrow the best that California may put forth.

Captain Rusty Callow announced after the workout yesterday that it had been decided to hold the race down the Estuary, the starting point to be off the S. L. C. crew shed below the Webster street bridge and the finish line opposite the Alameda mole, a distance of three miles.

It has been six years since racing shells of the rival universities have plowed their way headed for the mouth of the Estuary. In 1921 the crews of California and Washington fought their way stroke by stroke up the Estuary, past the High street bridge to the finish line, a scant six feet separating the two bows at the finish of one of the prettiest races ever seen here.

In 1920 the California, Stanford and Washington crews raced over the same course, upstream, while in 1919 the three rivals pulled blades over the course that is to be used the morning of April 21. On that occasion California and Washington raced a neck and neck battle, Washington winning by three feet, with Stanford third.

FOUR ARE VETERANS.
Four members of the Washington boat rowed in the winning Purple and Gold boat last year in the north. Spahn, who will hold down No. 5 this year was at No. 2 Tidmarsh, the present bow, was in the same seat last year; Parkins, at present No. 4, was in No. 2 seat a year ago, while Captain Shaw is back in his old slide at No. 6.

The others are filling the seats in the varsity boat for the first time but look to be equal to the task confronting them. Walling at stroke rows like a veteran oarsman while Dutton, Dunn and Luft are all up to standard.

Captain Callow announced today that there would be no Sunday workouts during the stay of the Washington crew here. The athletes at the northern institution gave distinct instructions on that point before the Huskies left Seattle. During the season in the north the Washington men have never worked on Sunday and the trip here will prove no exception.

In view of the fact that the lower course is to be used it will work somewhat of a hardship on the visitors, as the water on work days is rough, due to the amount of travel.

A few trial spins will suffice, and the Washington crew will go over the upper course.

The annual race will be well worth watching and the winner will have the satisfaction of knowing that the best crew won, barring unforeseen breaks during the race.

Washington's headquarters were changed today from the Hotel St. Mark to the Hotel Oakland. At have the Huskies eat in the regular hotel dining room, but their diet will be carefully watched, and Coach Callow will take no chances on any of his men breaking the training rules.

Washington University Eight Preparing for Daily Workout

Two Card Matmen Are Out of Meet

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, April 13.—Neither Woodhead nor Nicholson, Stanford's best men in the heavier weights in wrestling, will be entered in the annual Stanford-California tournament to be held in Fresno tomorrow Saturday night.

Both men failed to return to college this quarter.

Blue and Gold Net Men to Invade East

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, April 13.—Four men will represent California in the Intercollegiate Tennis matches to be held in the east this summer, according to a decision of the executive committee of the University of California. California is represented this year by one of the strongest squads in many seasons, and it was thought only right to allow the men to show their mettle against the principal eastern collegiate teams.

Twilight League Plans Completed

RICHMOND, April 13.—President Howard French of the Twilight Baseball League, Standard Oil's prime athletic unit, will have the first street diamond put into excellent shape within the next fortnight, and the "play ball" sign will see four happy teams make their getaways. French will soon be ready to announce the batteries for the teams, which are the All-Stars, the Bohemians, the Laurel House and the Mechanics.

The games played twice weekly during the summer attract thousands of fans. There is no admission charge.

GOLF

By W. D. McNICOLL.
To give intending competitors in the forthcoming Northern Amateur Championship every opportunity to get in some practice over the Berkeley course, the women members of the club have agreed to a plan of procedure in regard to practice rounds for intending competitors.

Any player wishing to have a practice round over the Berkeley course is requested to communicate with the captain, Mrs. Wilson S. Hatfield, who will give out a certain restricted number of permits during the week.

Clara B. Burton visited the Berkeley course this week but neglected to take a lady with him and was forced to carry a generous bag full of clubs and golf balls over a course that calls for every inch of energy being concentrated on one's shots. The Sequoyah player shot good golf over the first nine holes.

Berkeley Is Favored for Track Honors

Alameda High Should Offer Strong Competition to 1922 Champs.

By MARTIN ROTKE.
The annual track and field meet of the Alameda County Athletic League will take place tomorrow morning, 10:30, at the University of California oval with four schools competing for the honors.

Berkeley high champs of the 1922 meet, will enter the meet a slight favorite to win, while Alameda is expected to give the Yellowjackets some tough competition. Piedmont and Hayward have devoted most of their (in part) to baseball, and have given very little thought to the track and field. In that regard prep fans are looking for Berkeley and Alameda to fight it out between themselves.

Track interest in the four A. C. A. L. schools has taken a slight drop, due chiefly to Jupiter Puvius' visit among the coast cities. This fact has also hindered the progress of the various track men and caused the postponement of numerous meets which were expected to put the tracksters in first class condition.

Coach Moyer of Piedmont high has two young men whom highlander fans look upon as stars of the first magnitude. Jim Davies, former university high athlete, and captain of the Piedmont team, is probably the biggest point maker on the team of Coach Moyer. Davies specializes in the discus and mile, and will also probably enter the 440. Van Dyke, who has been making fairly good time in the practice workouts, is another pastime of the point making variety.

Alameda, under the tutelage of Coach Jolly, has two fine sprinters in Kenney and Hunter, and is especially strong in the field events. Cooper is probably Alameda's best point getter, taking part in three events, the discus, shotput and javelin. Birge and McRitchie, in the high and low hurdles, respectively, have also worked well during the practice sessions. Fyke, pole vaulter, has been lowering around the ten foot mark, and together with Stevens has also been showing good form in the mile and half mile.

Captain John Clymer, of Berkeley high, has an aggregation, although not as strong as last year, but one that has looked good enough to cop with high school meet around here. Clymer is probably the hardest worked man on the squad, as he takes part in the sprints, hurdles and relay. Sterling, of last season's team, has made between twenty and twenty-one feet in the broad jump in practice meets, and Berkeley fans look upon him as a probable point scorer.

The field events are Hayward's strongest items, with Machado, Brown, Foley and Gortie taking an active part in the discus, shotput and javelin. Captain E. C. Williams is in the distances, and Williams and Richmond in the sprints, are three of the bright lights on the country squad. Prep fans expect to see Williams shatter the A. C. A. L. record in the pole vault, as he has been towering between ten and eleven feet throughout the entire practice season.

Shade, Reeves Will Top Next Boxing Card

WASHOON TANNY SIMPSON learned this morning that Summerich and Davis, on who he was counting for his next main event, have been matched for a bout in the northwest, so he has decided to use Jack Reeves and Billy Shade at the main event of his show to be staged at the Oakland Auditorium next Wednesday night. Shade and Reeves staged a great bout two weeks ago and fans have been clamoring for a rematch. Simpson will lineup the remainder of his card today.

Armstrong Is Again Leader In Golf Play

LOS ANGELES, April 13.—E. S. (Scotty) Armstrong again led the field at Midwick Country Club yesterday in the final qualifying round of the Southern California amateur golf tournament, turning in a card of 154 for the two days' play. Willie I. Hunter, formerly British amateur champion, and Dr. Paul N. Hunter, formerly California amateur champion, were tied for second honors, with aggregate scores of 153.

Fred Barber, formerly Los Angeles city champion, supplied the sensation of the day when he shot the seventh hole in one.

Growers at Annual Meeting State Exchange Is Now On Sound Business Basis

Assets of the California Almond Growers' Exchange were fixed at $1,333,300 in the thirteenth annual report submitted by the board of directors to the 2000 members of the exchange at the annual meeting in San Francisco today. While liabilities of the almond growers' exchange were set at $30,000 as of March 31, 1933, the report showed these liabilities represent merely loans to local associations of growers negotiated by the exchange as a mediator and that as a matter of fact the exchange with its assets of nearly a million and a half dollars really has no liabilities.

Gross sales for that portion of the 1932 crop sold to date amounted to $2,024,955. As all of the crop was not sold, the report attempted to predict what the total gross sales will eventually reach nor what the final net to growers members will be.

Total membership in the almond co-operative was given as 2008. This shows an increase of 201 growers members since June 1, 1932, when the exchange ended its membership reorganization campaign for a five-year crop pooling agreement.

The report submitted by the directors carried the following recommendations for consideration of the membership:

1. Continuation of present sales and advertising policies.
2. Establishment of a manufacturing department to shell, blanch and can almonds.
3. Permanent production department to solve cultural problems of growers and effect lower production costs.
4. A membership committee of growers to increase membership in the exchange.
5. Close co-operation with European almond growers.

The report characterized 1933 as the year of "renewal and adjustment" for the almond and the industry. "For the first time," it states, "we have operated on a sound business basis," referring to the adoption of the five-year crop pooling agreement which gave growers a market in the exchange to individual growers and replaced the old, loose seasonal agreement between the grower and his local almond association.

The exchange received 3743 tons of almonds from growers in 1932. It sold 2498 wholesalers and jobbers in 600 cities of the United States. The total 1932 California crop was fixed at 40,000 tons and the report estimated that growers of the state lost $500,000 because of the price cutting competition of individual shippers and speculators who handled the balance of the almond tonnage grown by farmers not members of the exchange.

The report of Manager T. C. Tucker showed that the management obtained $166,000 more for the portion of the 1932 crop sold than it would have brought on the basis of prices fixed by representatives of the growers who set 1932 crop prices last fall. The prices obtained at the beginning, however, had to be cut to meet competition of speculators.

NINE ARE TAKEN IN BOOZE RAIDS

Prohibition enforcement officers were exceedingly busy on the Oakland side of the bay last night and early today and by the time they had finished their labors nine men were in custody, charged with violating the Volstead act. In all four places were raided, three in the city and one at Ashland. A small quantity of liquor only was seized as evidence in each case. Those in custody and the places where they were captured were: J. W. Bradley and Frank Crawford, 339 Twelfth street; V. Lester, E. Ransome and Tony Nero, 634 Broadway; and C. E. Nuss and Jack Pardee, Nineteenth street and San Pablo avenue.

MASON'S VISIT OAKLAND

RICHMOND, April 12. — Richmond Masons in large numbers will go to Oakland next Wednesday evening and witness the third degree as conferred by the French Masonic lodge of San Francisco. The ceremony will be staged in Scottish Rite hall.

COURTS CANNOT REVERSE
NEW DECISION

SEATTLE, April 12. — Courts of law cannot set a price on a pint of blood. Judge Solisson so decided when he dismissed the suit of Arturo Castellani against Donick Buzello for $5,000. Castellani alleged Buzello owed him that much for a pint of his blood used in a transfusion operation when Buzello was ill.

Candidates Invited
To Address Center

Candidates for public office to be elected at the primary election next week have been invited to participate in an open forum to be conducted tonight in Plymouth Center at Piedmont and Yosemite avenues. Seth Thompson will preside.

K. OF P. PLAN STUNT

RICHMOND, April 12. — Richmond Knights of Pythias at their meeting in Pythian Castle this evening will discuss the part they are to play in the "stunt" night program which is to be county-wide. Each lodge in the county is to put on a "stunt" for another lodge.

ARDENT NOTES
IN DIVORCE SUIT

MODESTO, April 12. — "My darling sweetheart" letters will feature the divorce suit of Maud Carl against Frank W. Carl, it was learned with the filing of the suit here yesterday.

Mrs. Carl alleges that letters bearing that salutation were addressed to her husband by a Lucy Row of Madera. One of the letters is attached to the divorce complaint.

Carl, a machinist, is now living in Sacramento, the complaint states. The letter alleged to have been written him states that the writer would join him and go to Sacramento, the complaint states. Extreme cruelty, abusive tactics and threats to kill his wife are alleged. The two were married in Dinuba in 1912 and have two children.

MUFFLER HANGS BOY

DULUTH, Minn. — A muffer tied around 15-year-old Elmer Gerson's neck by his mother caught on a picket fence and choked the lad to death.

Candidate Addresses Workers
Speaker Talks on Port Growth

Mayor John L. Davis, in a talk to employees of the B. K. Wood Lumber Company yesterday, called attention to the fallacy of statements which are being made by other candidates.

"You have been told," he said, "that the costs of government are mounting in Oakland. As a matter of fact they are less than they have ever been. Consider the purchasing power of the pre-war dollar as compared with the dollar of today. Then compare the progress of Oakland a few years ago with the present development. The answer is obvious; the facts speak for themselves."

"With the rapid growth of Oakland, with the payment of more than $5,000,000 in bond interest and redemption, with a development program unparalleled in the history of Oakland, our tax rate is today less in dollars and cents than it was two years ago. "We have a comprehensive program of harbor development well under way; we are carrying on improvements in every department of the city government; we have not authorized all departments; we have purchased new fire apparatus at a cost of nearly $250,000, and yet we have held down the tax rate."

"The office of Mayor requires all of a man's time and demands the best that is in any man," said Dave Oliphant at a meeting last evening. "I entered this contest with the determination to devote all my time to the office of Mayor and to sacrifice my law business. I am convinced that Oakland needs new leadership. I shall try to provide such leadership by devoting all my time to the job and by giving the city a new kind of administration, based definitely on an efficiency program, not on politics. "I am still without definite replies to my questions recently asked of the administration concerning many matters of policy during the past eight years. I believe the people would welcome a full statement from the city hall on the matter of the Six Minute Ferry franchise, as well as on the expenditure of harbor money for lake development, and like questions. Nor has the administration seen fit to justify its position on the matter of high taxes. It is not enough to promise low taxes. An executive should carry out his campaign pledges. The people are now awake to the fact that their taxes are 40 cents higher than when the administration took office, despite campaign pledges."

"When I am elected Mayor of Oakland," declared Fred E. Reed, independent candidate for mayor, speaking before a gathering of West Oakland citizens in U. P. E. C. hall last night, "I shall recover West Oakland's waterfront for the city and start harbor development commensurate with the commerce of San Francisco bay. Harbor business will no longer be turned away from Oakland for the lack of harbor facilities. The front door of what should be a great commercial city will no longer remain a garbage dump and taxable wealth will be created in Oakland like it has been in San Francisco."

The Swedish-American Republican club has endorsed the following ticket: For mayor, David F. Oliphant Jr.; for commissioner No. 1, W. H. Edwards; for commissioner No. 2, no endorsement; for school director No. 1, E. C. Lyon; for school director No. 2, S. Craig; for school director No. 3, J. F. Chandler; for school director No. 4, J. J. Allen.

Commissioner Edwards will tonight address a meeting of citizens at Plymouth Center, Piedmont avenue and Yosemite streets, speaking on "The Importance of Budget Making in City Government." At a meeting last night Edwards pointed out that the compilation of the city's budget is a task requiring expert knowledge and a considerable amount of experience. "Between four and five million dollars are spent annually by the city of Oakland and the allotment of this amount for the various city needs should be made only by those who are qualified by experience and actual knowledge," said Edwards.

"Too many school board elections," is the way in which E. J. Correll, candidate for school director No. 2, put the situation up to the voters at a meeting at the home of Mrs. R. S. Maynard in Park Boulevard last night. "In 1919 bonds for $1,975,000 were voted," he said, "and now, four years later, another bond issue of $5,500,000 is asked for. In 1919 we were told that the Oakland board of education was asking for the approval by the Oakland citizens of a bond issue, which would establish education on a solid basis for years to come. "The Oakland board of education needs an attorney on its personnel," declared H. S. Craig, candidate for school director, at an Oakland meeting last night. "We have no attorney now and it is my position that this body will never function to the fullest until there is a man with legal training and legal experience to assist the members in the many complicated problems which they have to solve."

The last meeting before the primary election of the Mattis for Commissioner club will be held tonight at the Puritas Cafe, 423 Fifteenth street, at which time plans for bringing the Mattis campaign to a successful conclusion will be formulated.

Nettie M. Miller spoke at a house meeting in North Oakland last night and gave her reasons why she is a candidate for school director No. 2. "It has been said in this campaign that the ax of the root of the tree of education," said Mrs. Miller. "I will agree with this remark, but I will also say that the ax can be laid to some of the top-heavy branches of 'overhead' with good effect."

"I ought to feel at home in a Baptist church," said H. T. Hempstead, candidate for commissioner No. 2 at the North Oakland Baptist church last night. "My father was a Baptist minister and I heard him preach many times in my days than my duties will permit me to listen to now. I have lived forty-seven years in Oakland and I believe I am qualified to serve you in the city council."

The Wasteful Days are Gone

The days when you bought wood "by the load" and water "by the month" are gone forever. Commodities are now accurately measured in order that exact quantities may be delivered to purchasers.

Electricity is measured by your Electric Meter in units of Kilowatt Hours (k. w. h.). Read your Meter frequently, see how much Electricity you are using and compare the number of Kilowatt Hours consumed month by month.

If you would like to know how to read your Electric Meter, ask at any P. G. and E. office for Free Booklet, "How to Read Your Electric Meter," and ask to see the schedule of Electric rates that applies in this community.
